OFF THE TOP

In Drummer 125 we included a 20 Questions form to solicit opinions from our readers. Last month I gave you some general results from the first 200 responses we received. This month I'd like to share, and respond to, a few of the specific comments. We will be sharing more of these comments with you in future issues.

#19. What would you like to see more of in Drummer? Tough Customers.

Models are OK but TC's are closer to every day life. I really like your issue on Texas.

I would like to see a different area featured in each issue.

More Tough Customers was one of the most common requests. We publish nearly all of the TCs sent in to us. To get more YOU have to send them in. We've also had several requests for photos in the Dear Sirs. We allow this on commercial ads but not personals (photos with personals are invited in both DungeonMaster and FQ.) HOW-EVER, the Tough Customers section is actually offering free personals along with photos. Take advantage of it.

Lots of people loved the Texas issue (#103) and many hated it. Issue #130 next month will feature a section on another state, Ohio, the home of Ron Zehel, Mr. Drummer 1989-90. We will be spotlighting the leather bars, businesses, and clubs in the buckeye state and presenting a greatly expanded Tough Customers section on the leathermen of Ohio. I've just been through the photos and these are HOT men, many showing you the kinds of action they promise to deliver.

#19. What would you like to see more of in Drummer? More Tough Customers. Coverage of Inferno—Some of us there are quite willing to be photographed—especially bondage competitions. MORE rubber, mud, WS, raunch.

TC's are covered above, as for Inferno coverage there are two problems. As you should know Chicago Hellfire Club is VERY strict on publication of photos taken at Inferno. Very few can be published, and those must undergo a lengthy approval process. The second problem is that most of the interesting ones are too heavy for publication in Drummer. They would get us thrown off newstands across the country. I know that in the past there were lots of this type of photos in this magazine. I would like to see lots of them there again. But if I publish them you WILL NOT see them because the distributors will send them back to us, refusing to sell them. Sorry but that is life these days. We do publish heavier photos in Mach and in DungeonMaster. There is a major photo spread on the most recent Inferno in Dungeon-Master 37 which will be available in May.

#10. How do you feel generally about the fiction published in Drummer? Explain Very good when not botched by stupid editorial butchery.

#12. What was your favorite piece of fiction published in Drummer during the past year? Beirut—Part 1 & 2 ONLY—later parts butchered editorially by cutting shifting by insensitive asshole editor. Fire Him!

Every word Aaron Travis submitted for Beirut was published as received.

Beirut was by far the most common answer to question #12 (we'll give you a complete report on this question in a later issue) but you are the only one who seemed to be aware of an "editing" problem. As usual however, there were also a few persons who mentioned it under question #20: "What would you like to see less of"?

#19. What would you like to see more of in Drummer? Muscular black men on their knees kissing muscular white men boots.

A black man should worship a muscular whiteman. I know: I am black. Run an issue listing gyms and detailed reports of the members getting whippings for not working out hard enough and for not winning contests in bodybuilding.

Your comments are exactly the kind of thing I was trying to get two years ago when I was promoting a "Fetish Photo" feature. For all my pleas there were only two responses, neither of which were very practical as they required a large number of models and lots of costumes & props. While I do not agree that black men SHOULD worship muscular white men, I certainly agree that any one that wants to should be able to do so-and I'd love to publish photos of it. We will see what we can do. As for the second part of Question #19, you ask us to run a list of such gyms: If you know of any that use this kind of discipline let me know about them. I'll not only list them I'll get a photo crew there to document the activity. If you are, as I suppose, just suggesting a story idea I am hereby passing it on to our many readers who are also writers. It sounds hot to me guys!

CAUTION: Every decision a person makes, including the decision to get out of bed in the morning, has some degree of risk associated with it. We strongly believe that each competent adult must set for themselves the level of risk he or she is willing to accept. Some avoid crossing streets in heavy traffic—others stunt-ride motorcycles without a helmet. However, to intelligently confront and accept risk, a person must understand the dangers.

While Drummer hopes to educate its readers on a wide variety of topics, its main purpose is to entertain! Works of fiction presented in this magazine are just that—fiction! They are not in any way intended to suggest or describe activities that anyone should—or often could—actually do. They are meant for entertainment only. In other than fictional pieces, we will emphasize safe sex with respect to contagious diseases and safe and sane behavior with respect to all activities and will try to point out all activities which deviate from generally recognized safe-sex and safe-and-sane play activities. However, Desmodus, Inc., its officers and stockholders, the editors and staff of Drummer, columnists, authors, artists and other contributors to this publication and other organs of Desmodus, Inc. cannot be held responsible for accidents, injuries or other misfortunes that result from proper or improper application of information imparted or ideas generated by materials in Drummer, or from other Desmodus, Inc. products.

MALE CALL

SAFETY FIRST

I think that you could do a great service to the leather community by exploring and explaining more of the possibilities of Safe Sex. When I bring a boy home I make him tell me his fantasies and we explore them safely. They leave happy and I am exhausted and satisfied that I might have given him a better feeling of Safe Sex.

If more of the "Tops" in this world were more creative and caring there would be more healthy bottoms out there to share.

-MM / St. Louis, MO

We will be beginning a Safe Sex column in Drummer 131. It will cover not only AIDS safety, but other aspects of safety and leathersex as well.

TRUE COLORS

The other night something happened that I felt needed a public comment, and a strong one.

A friend of mine and I were visiting Charlotte N.C. and went to the Brass Rail, a "Western-Leather" bar. My friend was wearing Chicago Hellfire colors. In came a guy wearing Tradesman colors, a local club. The local guy not once spoke or in any way greeted my friend.

Now I was under the impression that at least a "Hello and welcome to our city" was minimum courtesy to any visiting clubman. I have never failed to receive or extend such courtesy under such circumstances.

This guy may be the only yo-yo in the club, but I feel all club members, all clubs, could use a reminder about their manners.

—S / Winston Salem, NC

It is customary for a local club member to welcome a visitor wearing colors. It is a great tradition and a significant contribution to the feeling of brotherhood. But it is also not a right to be expected and bitched about when it does not occur. Perhaps the local club member did not notice the colors, perhaps he had some trepidation in approaching a CHC member (remember, not all Leather/Levi club members are into SM and some have a phobia about it!) You and your friend could have said hello to him, too.

MAD ABOUT THE BEAR

Just got my issue 126. Max Bear is one of the hottest little guys I have seen in a long time. Any bear who lists Freelance Proctology among his hobbies is the kind of Bear I want to meet! I hope to see lots more of him.

P.S., he says his favorite foods are cookies and beer. . . Would that be recycled beer? . . . and cookies?

-BC / San Francisco, CA

According to Max's press representative, "It's purely situational and totally up to Max."

-KJL

GRODY TO THE MAX

I think it is a monumental waste of four pages (66-69 in Issue #126) to include the cartoons of Max Bear. I think it is a "cute" bad addition to Drummer.

I've been critical, now let me heap some praise on you. You have consistently hardened and lengthened my dick with your very hot magazine. Coverman (Issue #125) from Like Moths to a Flame tore my underpants I got hard so fast. Since they were torn, I ripped off the rest of them and shredded my T-shirt I got so hot! This was all just an overture for the sight of Colt Thomas in your pages at last! A grand old man of leather living: finally sharing his tremendous gifts in your spread. And his own. Very hot. Tell me, are those tattoos of his recent? Will we see more of this hot fuck in his shining black skins of office? Or better, stripped of portions? I can only hope.

It is this kind of throbbing sexual icon which leads me to think four, or one page(s), of the too-cute bear are a waste. Thanks for years of hard dicks and great pages. I wait to see Ron Zehel's cod stick out of his cod-piece and any picture of Colt Thomas (or Brian Dawson.)

-MM / New York, NY

The tattoos (except for the barbed wire on his left arm,) are recent. They're by Mad Dog, the creator of Max Bear. The most interesting one is not on display in the photos. Guess where that one is!

-AFD

NOT GROOVY ENOUGH

May be my expectations were too high. May be, because I own and ride a Harley, (and I thought) you'd also know what a motorcycle issue should have!

But boy, what a let down. You think you've got it because you show some fuckin' model sitting on a bike, with a chain casually wrapped around his tasteful body. What a joke! I have never seen a biker with such a ph-abulous tan!! Believe me—you're just about good enough for an Uncle Charlie's customer having a trip about bikes. We regular patrons of your rag deserve better. There was no good editorial, no pictures of runs, gay or straight, with bikes lined up and groovy hot bikers hanging around, etc.

Sorry to be rough on you guys. Your mag and Bear are the only two gay mags I buy. But this time I got turned off.

-IPC / Delaware, NI

Tastes vary, as the above two letters indicate, but I can't argue with JPC's complaints. But we're trying for more of that "real" biker look in Drummer. Note illustrations by T.C. in this and future issues, and photos coming up in Drummer 134.

-AFD

THIS IS A BITCH LETTER

This is a bitch letter.

Why has Drummer fucked up its N.E. distribution? I haven't seen you around in months!

They say here back east that Drummer fears censorship and with good reason, in that you don't see it around anymore, and for that Drummer has "gone soft." Whatsay?

-JS / Rochester, NY

I say, Read My Editorials! What do you think I've been hollering about! The censorship IS by distributors refusing to carry the magazine because it is too "heavy." You don't like it—bitch to your legislators who can do something about it! If you want your copies, there is any easy way to avoid these censors—SUBSCRIBE! You get every copy—and they go out of here before shipments to news stands.

THE LUSTY MR. MAY

Some of the hottest stories you've published are David May's. I like his writing style—and I especially like the comfortable, casual way his characters weave safe sex practices into their play (among other places.)

I hope your other readers appreciate, from David's hot stories, how easy it is for them to play hot and safe.

How soon may we expect more from this talented man?

—CT / Berkeley, CA

$25 in other countries

David May's work appeals to me, not only for the reason you've cited, but also for his skill in handling narrative and character development. He's a great writer. The next story by David May we'll be publishing will appear in Mach 18. Titled "Hot Under the Collar," it's very, very different from the two stories we've recently published in Drummer ("The Circle is Complete," and "The Utah Connection.")

STELLAR RIP-OFF

Last fall I got a mailing from Witomski of Tom's River that included several inserts for a variety of things—and one that got my response. I decided to order a video tape from Stellar Enterprises. Not having heard of them before, I thought they were OK because of the source of the flyer.

My check was cashed (it was sent to Stellar in Chicago, but was deposited in a Tom's River account,) but to this day I have not seen the product. I sent letters to Stellar with no response, 'till the last one was returned unclaimed.

I did write to Witomski regarding the apparent ripoff, but their reply was to contact Stellar direct. Another mailing came from Stellar in the interim, offering a longer list of videos, but no word on delivery except the note to allow 4-10 weeks for delivery.

This letter is for your information and/or to pass on to prevent others from the same fate.

-Chuck Slaton

We have received MANY complaints about this apparent rip-off operation. I know of at least two persons who have started legal action.

-AFD

WOOF! WOOF! WOOF!

In Issue #126 you asked for some pictures of your readers. Well, I'm not a "pretty boy," but thanks to Drummer I've had a great year this last year.

The pictures were taken by a photographer at the Mr. Mid Atlantic Leather contest in D.C. last January. I entered, had a great time, and had the opportunity to meet a lot of good leathermen.

But back to why Drummer helped me have a great year.

Last year I placed an ad in Drummer looking for a man to form a good relationship with, and who also could expand my knowledge of leather. More than a hundred men answered and without exception I found them to be sincere, good men as we corresponded. But out of all these men, I found one in particular who fit all my needs and fortunately I fit his.

Through the security and trust we've built, he's used me in ways I never thought I'd submit to, and in return I've played out a lot of my fantasies on him. This also led me to enter the contest in D.C., and while I wasn't the best looking man in the contest by any means, just being a contestant and seeing the reactions of other leathermen has certainly boosted my self confidence even more.

So, Drummer, thanks for the classifieds which expanded my horizons, thanks for the information which led me to D.C., and thanks in advance for the entertainment I know is coming in the future.

Mack MacKinnon-

DrummerMan

Every once in a while in life you meet someone who is a giant of a man. I first ran into Mack in the midseventies, in Vancouver, a city we both lived in and both loved. He opened Top Man Leather, which became a sort of drop-in center for the biker-leather-uniform community. Later, through the Zodiacs, I worked with Mack and Top Man in organizing the first Pacific Northwest Mr. Leather Contest in 1982. Runoffs were held in Portland, Seattle, and Vancouver, with finals in Vancouver. When he left for several years in San Francisco, Vancouver lamented Mack's going. When he returned, he was as active as ever in the community, raising money for charities, opening a new store, organizing for the NLA and drawing together leather men and women.

We admired and loved Mack as a biker, as a man whose heart was filled with generosity, and for his warmth and respect for others. When I wrote Urban Aboriginals, Mack was very much an inspiration of the leatherman about whom I was writing: a man who had a quiet belief in himself, but was unassuming about it. A man who was patient and always ready to help. A man who was prepared to speak his mind—even shit disturb—when he knew the time and place were right. Mack commanded respect, and it was a respect deserved. Dear Mack: Thank you, Sir, for your many lessons.

Geoff Mains / Author

"Hi, Dyke Face," response, "Hi, Faggot Breath." Now this greeting indicates that you either can't stand the person you're talking to or that you love them very much. I loved Mack MacKinnon very much and I know he loved me too. We were pals, we ate together, danced together, and dished together. Nothing was sacred to Mack except his commitment to the leather community and every time I think of Mack I grin.

I first met Mack in Seattle at the May Day celebration. I was just beginning my year as International Ms Leather. We didn't talk then, just exchanged the normal hello how are you. But Mack was definitely memorable wearing his great leathers with his shiny bald head. Sashie was still pretty bald from her chemotherapy so the two of them hit it off right away. As Mack and I said hello I started to give him a kiss on the cheek and he said "No, kiss me here," bending his head forward and getting lipstick prints on his bald pate. He said he'd never wash again. I told him he didn't have to do that because I'd kiss his bald head every time I saw it, and I did. That was how my relationship with Mack MacKinnon began and it grew into a great friendship.

Mack and Sashie and I have seen each other at almost every important leather event since then. I'm just going to tell a couple of stories about those meetings.

Mack was always looking for a Daddy, so at each event I'd scope out men I liked, introduced them to Mack and then we'd compare notes later. There was one man at International Mr. Leather last year, Mack was dying to meet him so I went and questioned him first, he fit all the requirements so I introduced them. Mack came to me later and said he'd be great for a one-nighter but he was too serious for anything long term. There was a dance after this same contest so Mack decided we should start some rumors. He had me whip him on the dance floor. Well it probably didn't start too many rumors but I ended up whipping a few more butts than his on the floor that night, thanks to his bright idea. Another little thing happened at the Northwest Mr. Drummer contest in 1987. Mack and I were two of the judges and Mike Murray, whom we all know and adore, was the emcee. During the contest an auction was held as part of an AIDS fundraiser and of course Mike was asked to donate an article of clothing. That article of clothing just happened to be his leather jock strap so he was asked to take it off, take it all off on stage. Now, Mike seemed rather shy about doing it, so Mack turned to me and said, "It's because you're here." "Now, Mack, I don't want to inhibit anyone, so I'll go up and tell him I'll turn my back." Mack was laughing like hell by then and said to do it, then when Mike was undressed to turn back around. I went to the stage, told Mike I'd turn my back and then as soon as he had unclothed, Mack poked me and I turned back and said, "I lied". "I lied" became an inside joke for us every time we did something other than what was expected.

Mack watched Sashie and me crisscross the country, scrambling all the while for money to deal with the travel and Sashie's illness. He decided to do something about our money problems. He arranged a fund-raiser for us while we were in New York seeing doctors for Sash. Then he would call regularly to make sure things were going okay and find out if we needed anything. And Mack MacKinnon, a leatherMAN, started the International Ms Leather Travel Fund, naming it after Sashie because he loved and admired her spirit and dedication even though she was ill. When Shan Carr, International Ms Leather 88, and I were getting ready to leave for Chicago and the International Mr. Leather contest, Mack called just to say he was going to make sure we ate while there. He was bringing extra money for food.

Mack Mackinnon was also responsible for starting NLA: B.C. and was a prime figure in getting the men's and women's leather groups there working together to form a community. He was active in VASM, a men's S/M group in Vancouver, and he sponsored AIDS fundraisers on a regular basis. Mack's Leathers was the place to go when you needed information on what was happening. He was everywhere supporting any leather event he could get to, and he loved a good party. He just happened to produce the finest leathers I've seen anywhere.

This was the Mack I knew. He backed his belief in building a leather community with his energy, his talent, his money, and most important of all his love, and he had a damn good time while he did it. I'm going to miss Hi Dyke Face more than I can say. I'm also going to miss the laughing, the dancing, and the dishing.

Judy Tallwing McCarthy International Ms Leather 1987

Thursday night, two days after ballot measure 8 passed in Oregon. Jan Brown from Vancouver, B.C. called to say Mack MacKinnon was in the hospital. She was on the way to visit him and told us not to call. He was in an oxygen tent and his condition was fair. Judy and I then went to a political meeting on what to do next since our defeat on measure 8. We got caught up in the meeting, then had a smaller planning meeting after, we got home about 3:00 am. The next morning we learned Mack had died.

I first met Mack at May Day in Seattle in 1987, at the dungeon. I felt right away like I'd known him forever. He had a shaved head and my own hair was just growing back in. He wore black military style pants with a white stripe down the sides and a leather shirt. I noted this outfit was probably the finest leather craftsmanship I had ever seen. I saw Mack several times after that, in Vancouver, in Seattle, in Chicago, in San Francisco, in short at every leather event Judy and I went to. On March 26, 1988 at the second International Ms Leather contest, my forty-second birthday, Mack started the International Ms Leather Travel Fund and named it after me. After he died I really got upset that he names this fund after me then catches a cab before I do. This man gave his time, his energy, his money and his love, he put more into the leather community than he ever got out of it through his business. He was the guiding light of the Vancouver leather community and a star everywhere else. There was only one Mack Mackinnon and whenever we were in the same city he always brought me a box of Smarties from Vancouver, he knew how much I like them. Mack was considerate, a gentleman, and one of the most loving men I have ever known. He will live forever in my heart and whenever I eat Smarties I'll think of Mack and his contributions to the leather community in general and me in particular.

Portland Leatherwoman 1988 (Sashie died in late March, 1989)

In 1986, when NLA was planning its first National Conference, I heard of a new leather shop in Vancouver. I made a special trip north to meet "Mack," the owner, and was immediately impressed with the incredible quality of his work, the careful attention to a customer's request and providing the best item he could, and commitment to maintaining those high standards. I was immediately welcomed as a friend and encouraged to return to Vancouver often and consider his home my own.

With the same commitment, care, and intensity Mack gave his leatherwork, he moved within the Vancouver leather/ SM community. His strong support was instrumental in the formation of Vancouver's own NLA chapter. Mack chose NLA primarily because of its open membership philosophy which fit so well with his own. He was not content to work only with the men's community. He rapidly became one of the most respected voices for leather dykes. Mack was quietly very proud of the frequency with which the women called on him. In the last year he had begun working towards greater inclusion of straight SM individuals into the larger leather/kink/ fetish community. Mack used his business as a platform which allowed him to reach out in many opposing direction, pull them together, and, through example, encourage many individuals to work, and play, together.

And Mack did love to play. His fondness for "Tractor Pulls" was well known, but who could beat his gauge 4 rings? He once told me his tits were "a little" sore. I asked what he had in them and he said only 3 rings and a bar—in EACH, including the size 4's.

His support of community and especially AIDS fundraising is widely recognized; his leather condom cases are known from coast to coast. Volunteers from PWAC (his favorite AIDS support group,) were always highly visible and publicly mentioned at any event he sponsored.

Perhaps I'll most miss Mack because I know my rather small close family has grown a little smaller. His intense shining eyes and sincere smile always welcomed me and let me know I was part of his family, and this made him part of mine. His support, caring, and honest sympathy were constant and his generosity was matched only by his open love for all members of his constantly growing community.

> George Nelson, Secretary National Leather Association

The only cows that Mack Mackinnon held sacred (as far as I could ever tell) were those that relinquished their hides so that they could be tanned, dyed black, and formed to gird men's loins. Beyond his beloved leather, and the bond of men's friendship that it engendered, he had no time for pomp or fatuousness or self-absorbed snivellers or self-anointed VIPs. Those things were skewered with a quick, incisive wit that punctured posturing but almost always left its victim chortling.

Long after we become resigned to the fact that Mack is no longer physically among us, his laughter and the laughter he brought forth from his friends will continue to be heard and appreciated.

Just when Mack became a fixture in Vancouver's leather and uniform scene is difficult to tell. Memory-always an erratic source—says his presence began being felt a decade or so ago. Cursory research—sifting through my photo files -produces images of Mack in the company of two dozen men at a summer campout at Lizard Lake on the southwest Vancouver Island. The date of the slides is August 1981. The research is bittersweet: rich in memories of fine camaraderie, sadness in the knowledge that a number of those stalwart guys have been felled by a grim disease.

Back to Mack: he reveled in occasions such as that, far from his craftsman's store (in which he reveled in other ways,) and in the company he loved to keep. He was Mack's Leathers and Mack's Leathers was him-inseparable entities which spread his name at least continent-wide. Thousands of miles from home, men have fondled the black leather condom case on my bike jacket's epaulet and asked, "Mack?")

In Vancouver he worked tirelessly for his friends and those he considered should be his friends. He tried to build bridges between segments of the community. His business served lesbians and they became his friends, and through that he built bridges of understanding.

And that beautiful shaved head of his made my tongue stiff.

> Murray M. Vancouver, BC

Mack helped me get my job at Image Leather when I was new in town and feeling quite isolated and confused. He was a warm and gentle man, a teacher in the world of action, a doer.

To some of us at Image who were alone and away from family, Mack was for-sure "Dad". That did not stop him from having a good time though, and I'll never forget his rendition, after inhaling helium, of "I'm a Lumberjack and I'm OK," accompanied by the strangest (not very butch dance steps.

Mack was a fine man, a strong leatherman, a lover of life and a fierce warrior when standing toe to toe with death. He fought for people with AIDS, for his brothers and sisters in leather, and for human rights. He was not one for Drama, just results. Mack has been an example for me. He is part of the reason I am who I am. I will miss him greatly.

> Jaryn (Jay) Marston Hedonic Engineering

I travel extensively around the country conducting piercing clinics at various stores in some of the major cities. It was on one of these trips to Seattle that I met Mack. He wanted me to come to Vancouver and conduct a clinic there.

Mack was, without question, one of the warmest, most generous individuals it has ever been my pleasure of knowing personally and professionally. He was willing to extend himself, to put himself out, to see that other people were comfortable and well taken care of. He was a first rate craftsman, taking great care and pride in the quality of his leatherwork. I feel very fortunate to own several unique pieces custom made especially for me.

Mack was also an incredible humanitarian. He gave endlessly and selflessly of his time and energy helping to raise money and support for a variety of causes, especially those fighting AIDS. It is a great tragedy that he has been felled by the enemy he fought with such vigor.

But the one thing I will personally never forget about Mack was his ceaseless energy and enthusiasm for living. The last time I saw Mack was at the Living in Leather conference in Seattle last October. Dressed in full leather we danced and sweated and laughed together with an energy and abandon I hadn't mustered in years. When I finally had to leave he was still dancing. That is probably the way I will always remember him.

Mack was a fine human being, and I count myself blessed to have known him.

Mack Mackinnon died at 3 am Friday, November 11, at Saint Paul's Hospital of an AIDS-related complication. He had been hospitalized for only a few days and his illness and death were a shock to all of us.

Mack was the owner of Mack's Leathers and was a well-known activist in the west coast S/M and leather community and in the Vancouver gay community as a whole. He was one of the founders and president of Vancouver Activists in S/M and co-chair of the National Leather Association of British Columbia, Many of us will remember Mack from his days at TopMan Leather with his lover, Buck, and his time at Image Leather in San Francisco. He raised and donated many dollars for the Vancouver PWA Coalition and for the Gay Games.

Mack was a man who cared passionately about things. He spoke out for the freedom we all deserve in our sexual orientations and proclivities. Mack hated judgmentalism and hypocrisy, and believed in the dignity and rights of us all. Mack's enthusiasm and acceptance changed this community and he was the catalyst in bringing Vancouver leather men and women to organize in Vancouver.

Mack cared about and enjoyed so much-his bike, his friends, tattoos and piercings, his uniforms, good porn and good men, "altered states," the S/M community and music—from opera and classical to Pink Floyd and Jim Reeves.

I will remember Mack best in his black leather uniform shirt and breeches, in his field boots, his head freshly shaved and with his ever-present red hankie. I remember Mack loudly enjoying "tug of war" games at the Seattle dungeon, his enthusiastic appreciation of some new "hot man" and his permanent advice to "not sweat the small stuff." I remember his incredible generosity and I remember Mack's Leathers was the first and only place in Vancouver where a dyke could buy a dildo harness. And I will always remember that Mack was the person who held me and sympathized when I got my heart broken in yet another romantic disaster. Mack was like that.

Mack died without complaint and he died never owning the Harley he always wanted, but he died with a red hankie tied to his bed rail. He leaves hundreds of friends and people who will remember him and who loved him.

Photos by George Dureau remember the first time I saw my Daddy. I was in one of the local leather bars, looking for someone who would take me home and turn me into the kind of Little Boy I had always dreamed about becoming. As I glanced up over the glass of beer I had been nursing for almost an hour, I couldn't help noticing a head full of curly blond hair cocked in my direction. The face underneath all that hair made my dick flutter. I had rarely seen any man whose looks so closely matched my idea of perfection. It wasn't that the man was just handsome. The man was fucking gorgeous. I took a hard swallow from my glass and strained to get a closer look at his regular features and thick, drooping blond moustache. What I saw as I moved in closer to him forever changed my ideas about what the words "hot" and "exciting" mean.

Chester

Once I could see past the rows of bodies blocking my view of the rest of him, I had to stop dead in my tracks. Instead of seeing the expected well-packed crotch and pair of highly polished boots, all I could focus on was the pair of metal crutches that held up his long, lean body. The metal began just under the armpits, making me think long and hard about the kind of sweat that had built up inside those hairy crevasses. Everything about the man intrigued me, from the way the silver-toned crutches matched the studs placed randomly across his leather jacket, to the way his legs swung loosely as he moved to a spot near the back of the bar.

As I watched his awkward movements, something about the way he moved told me that the crutches were more than just a means of facilitating walking. He held each slow bulging out of my crotch, that gave me the courage to approach him.

I started walking slowly to the other side of the room, my face wearing a shitass grin that disappeared the moment he scowled in my direction. I decided to approach him slowly. . . very slowly. Instead of making a bee-line towards the man, I veered away to the bar and ordered another beer. I planted my butt on a bar stool and started to swig my beer, glancing at him only when I thought he wasn't looking. I was close enough to bask in the heat generated by his hot looks. But I was also well out of batting range. I gave him plenty of time to get used to the fact that I was there. Then, as the hard stool began to dig into my ass cheeks, I began to think that maybe the fucker wasn't even gay. It had been a full fifteen minutes since I first had sat down. I decided the man was there more for the atmos-crutch with a fist tightly clenched around the cross bar. Each tentative step he took carried with it a certain amount of defiance. It was as if he were daring anybody to say something smart about the way his legs swung independently of the rest of him. Even as he finally made his way into a corner, the way those metal rods supported his weight told me that he wanted neither pity nor curiosity from any man.

But it was impossible not to be curious about him. He was just too beautiful to ignore. That beauty, which managed to shine through the obvious anger contorting his face, was like a magnet drawing me towards the metal supports that held him up. He was like no other man I had ever seen before. He had more attitude contained within his finelywrought countenance than any man I had ever seen. And it wasn't just the put-on attitude that most men at the bar seemed to be wearing. As he positioned the crutches so that his feet now rested on the floor, he seemed to be the embodiment of somebody born to dominate another. Not too surprisingly, I found his hot looks, combined with his kick-ass demeanor, turning me on in ways I had never even imagined. As I watched him surreptitiously, it was easy to ignore the disability and concentrate on what he could offer someone like myself, who needed to be under a Master's thumb.

I had long known that, sexually, I was born to be on the bottom. It wasn't so much the size of a man's dick or the perfection of his body that drew me closer—it was the unspoken something in his eyes, daring me to beg for the kind of scene that I so desperately needed, that caught my attention. It was that unspoken something that made me look over to where the man was standing. As our eyes met, he looked downward, as if to make sure that I knew what lay below the waist. I could see the uncertainty registering in each blue orb as he gave me plenty of time to turn my head away and look elsewhere. But my eyes remained locked onto his, and he must have been able to clearly see the longing in them. It was that longing, combined with the phere than for the opportunity of getting his joint worshipped. I was about to get off the stool when he turned towards me, drawing a cigar out of his jacket pocket at the same time. He started to light up just as my head moved directly towards him. He stopped in his tracks and let the match go out.

"You bothered by smoke?"

It wasn't so much a question as a dare to say "Yes." I mumbled a hesitant "No," then cautiously added the word "Sir." He didn't respond. He just struck another match and proceeded to blow thick puffs of smoke in my direction.

"Glad to hear it, Boy. I wasn't about to put up with any nosmoking shit."

My dick jumped up when I heard him call me "Boy." It wasn't so much the word itself as the way he said it that sent shivers running through my body. Almost instantly, my gaze moved downward, to that spot where his jeans bulged outward in a neat little mound just below the waist. I started to add up all the possible inches contained by those tight-fitting jeans, then stopped as my eyes focused on another curious bulge.

It started almost dead center between his waist and kneecaps; that telltale ridge that made the slacks bunch up where they never should have. Instantly, I realized that the lower half of the man was made of plastic.

"Yeah, you guessed it, fucker."

He tapped his finger on one of his legs, filling the air with a hollow-sounding thud.

"Ain't nothin' between my dick an' the ground 'cept empty air."

He continued to blow smoke in my direction, making my head ache.

"Ain't that a laugh, Boy? Thought you was starin' at a whole piece of meat, din't ya?"

He was right. At first I had pegged him for one of those guys whose legs were paralyzed as the result of some accident. I never thought that he would turn out to be an amputee.

"Well, guess again, Boy. What you got here is a genuine piece of crip meat, courtesy of the 'Nam. Now, what you got to say 'bout that, boy? You gonna go runnin' back to your tight-assed friends and tell 'em how you cruised this meanlookin' cripple? Gonna tell 'em how scared you got when you found out he din't have any fuckin' legs?"

He was no longer talking to me. He was talking to some invisible person created deep inside his brain, made up of all the bits and pieces of all the men who had ever rejected him for all the wrong reasons. I was nothing more than a sounding board, somebody who wandered too close to the wrong psyche at the wrong time. This fucker could be dangerous. I didn't have to say a fucking thing to set him off.

"Whatsa matter, Boy, you think I'm deaf, too? Talk to me, fucker. Tell me what it's like to slobber over someone, then find out he's a freak?"

I put my beer down. My fear left me. Somehow I knew the venom that had been pushing its way out of his tongue was now all spilt. What remained was just another lonely human being trying to cope with his fears of rejection. It was something I understood all too well. I could see my reflection in the barroom mirror, reminding me that I was no Adonis. I could look into his eyes and see the same hurt I had seen in mine when some tight-assed stud had passed me over for the prettier dude. I knew what it was like to enter a room full of strangers and find yourself suddenly vulnerable as the pretty-faced ones made out like bandits. I also knew that with his anger dissipated, all that remained was the painful vulnerability of someone on the perimeter of sexual desirability.

It was with that in mind that I raised my hand to his face. I slid the back of my fingers over his cheek, wondering for the first time how it might feel to have so perfect a face in so imperfect a body. I saw myself making sexual compromises as I sought my own level in the assortment of would-be topmen around me. Then, with my hand still attached to his smooth-shaven cheek, I whispered the words that were echoes of a not-too distant childhood.

"Please, Daddy," I said. "Don't be mad at me."

The words came out so naturally that I didn't have time to think about how silly they might sound. As I stood close to this legless man; I was once again the Little Boy, trying to understand what he had done to bring on such a sudden rush of anger from his father. Only this time it wasn't my real Dad standing in front of me. It was a perfect stranger. . . a stranger perfect in every way but one. I was entering an emotional minefield that only a man with no legs could safely maneuver through. I was exploring unknown territory, aware that to the enemy I was nothing more than a faceless would-be cocksucker.

But as my words hung in the air, no explosions came. The battlefield remained quiet. Instead of sparks flying from his eyes, I watched the lids close slowly as my words hit home. For a second, through my hand on his cheek, I could feel him tremble. Then, as quickly as it came, the tremor passed. I was left with a brain full of battle scars and the curly-haired hunk I had first spotted over a glass of beer. I now knew that he was only half-a-hunk, undesirable to some, but still possessing a spirit that could be, at its best, mercurial. He had shown me his dark side, and also his most vulnerable. I had shown him little except the willingness to understand and to take more abuse than most men would stand for.

"Boy, you must be one hell of a dickbrained masochist." There was no anger in his words, just a playfulness that made my cock jump once again.

"Don't you know how dangerous it is messin' with a cripple in the middle of a bout of self-pity? Man, you coulda got a crutch shoved up your ass or somethin"

Somehow that didn't seem like the worst fate a bottom man could have. I told him so, then let myself go at ease as his laughter filled the already charged air around our heads. The storm had passed. Just what kind of weather would take its place was anybody's guess. I imagined more clouds brewing somewhere in the stratosphere. But as he moved his cigar back up to his lips, I realized that the only clouds on the horizon were clouds of blue smoke. I smiled back at him and extended my hand towards him, this time in friendship.

"My name's Arnie," I said. "It's a shitty name. Guess that's why I prefer being called 'Boy,' or 'Slave,' or just plain 'Hey, You."

He grabbed my hand and held it in his own. The power of his grip told me just how strong his built-up torso was.

"Mine's Chester. Like in Marshall Dillon's gimpy sidekick.

Some joke, eh?"

I ran my fingers across his wrist, enjoying the feel of the thick mat of blond hairs running almost down to the fingers. "Well, then, I guess I'd better call you 'Sir' instead. Or 'Daddy.'"

I saw his eyes wander down to my swollen crotch. Once again, I was glad that Mother Nature had made up for what she didn't give me in great looks with plenty of extra inches of dickmeat.

"Guess I don't have to ask what you're into. Your choice in names tells it all."

I returned the crotch-staring, realizing that he had more than enough meat to satisfy any man's hunger.

"You also into makin' it with amps?"

The question took me by surprise. I had never thought much about how I would react to having sex with a disabled man. At least not until I met Chet. I always knew that attitude and the ability to use it was more important than looks alone. Well, Chet had the attitude, all right. He also had good looks. All that was missing was a pair of legs. The trade-off wasn't such a bad one.

"I've never gone out of my way to meet a disabled man, if that's what you mean. But I sure as hell wouldn't pass one up if he sparked my interest."

I finished up my second beer quickly, knowing full well where the conversation was going.

"How 'bout me, Arnie. Do I spark your interest?"

Het my eyes take in every inch of him. Now that I was able to see his legs up close, I realized that even with a pair of thick-soled work boots on the bottom, they still looked painfully mismatched with the rest of him. I imagined how he would look without them. After a moment's thought, I realized that he would probably still look pretty good.

"Yeah, Chester, Sir. . . you spark my interest. You spark it a whole lot."

He reached out and cupped my chin in his hand. It was not so much a gesture of affection as one designed to let me know just how much power he could wield.

"You already seen me at my worst, boy. Think you can also stand seein' me without my clothes?"

I peeked inside his jacket at the powerful chest muscles lying in wait there. I knew I could spend hours just licking out the sweat building up inside that leather jacket. That and his cock were all I needed to suck on. I told him so, making it clear that the minute he claimed me for his Slave Boy that what I felt and what I wanted made absolutely no difference. I would be totally his. No matter what he offered to me physically or mentally, I would have to not only accept, but learn to love and worship everything that was his.

He heard the words and listened, still not fully believing that it would make no difference to me whether or not he could offer me a pair of feet to suck on. Then, after a long pause in the conversation, he blew a thick cloud of smoke in my face and smiled sardonically.

"Then I guess you're on, Boy. . . I guess you're fuckin' on."

Chester

was on, all right. From the very moment I entered his ground floor apartment to the time I reluctantly left, many hours later, I was "on." Starting with the second that he ordered me to strip down, and including the second he told me to peel off his own clothing, I was on a high that persisted for days afterwards. Even when his pants were lowered and the set of perfectly matching prosthetic legs were exposed, nothing could cloud the joy I felt at being so completely dominated. It was as if all the cigar smoke blown in my direction had suddenly charged my brain with the one-way longing to serve the man in every way possible. Later, much later, I realized that all the while I was slobbering over his well-developed chest and thick, uncut cock, he was thinking about that moment when reality would set in and I would realize that the man lying on the bed in front of me was not someone I would be proud to introduce as my Master.

Fortunately that moment never came. Even as he shot his first load deep inside my gullet, I was still aware that what mattered most was the security his dominance afforded. When he finally granted me permission to shoot my own wad, it wasn't the end to an almost perfect mating. All I could feel at the time was the relief at knowing that for the next couple of hours, I was free to explore his body, relieved of the nagging ache inside my penis. I never told him at the time, but for me, his body was something new and exciting to explore and plant my wet-mouthed seal of approval on. It wasn't just the powerful chest that intrigued me, or the way his armpits had of sucking a tongue in and forever marking it with its heady musk. It was also the man's lower half that caught my attention and awakened in me feelings that I never thought existed.

Beginning with the moment we entered the tiny apartment, to the moment when he planted his bulk in an armchair and ordered me to fetch a beer, I knew that I wanted to explore the "difference" his truncated body afforded. As I moved back into the room, beer in hand, I automatically planted my body down on the carpeted floor. I crouched there, in perfect imitation of the many times I had sat patiently and obediently beside my latest Daddy. As I stared into his boots I had to think hard not to focus my mind on the fact that they were attached to nothing more than hollow plastic. But as I leaned closer and breathed in the heady boot-smells, I realized that no matter how artificial, these were my Master's legs and these boots were His boots.

I begged to be given permission to lick those boots. Then, once it was granted, I went to town in a way that surpassed the cleanings I had given to the boots of men who could actually feel my tongue against their legs. I licked and slobbered over his shitkickers, making them shiny with my spit. With every pass of my tongue on his boots, I stole glances at his face. Nothing registered there, not even surprise. He only stared straight ahead, his eyes focusing on some distant spot against the wall. I longed to hear some word of praise from him. Then, as my spit began to form a wet pool on the carpet, I sensed his gaze upon me. The cloud that had passed before his eyes was gone. Whatever had been conjured up in its wispy tendrils had disappeared. He sat there, potent, benign, his dick twitching under his jeans as he watched me service the bottommost part of him. I paused for a second and stared into his face just as the cloud began to reappear. He looked at me, puzzled. Then he reached his hands outward and, amazingly, began to lift my body upwards.

I crouched there on the floor, my eyes locked into an unblinking stare with his. We said nothing, only looked. Then, with the quietness of a cat, he placed his arms around my neck and drew me towards him. I marvelled at the beauty of his face as our lips touched, then parted to receive each other's tongue. I closed my eyes as we drew each other's breath in and wallowed in the wetness that our two open mouths afforded. Never had any man kissed his Slave Boy so beautifully as my Daddy did. With each intake of breath I was being drawn further inside his mind. I could see the winding pathways, some filled with anger and disappointment, others filled with a need to be loved and worshipped. I explored each byway, aware that once the journey was ended, the distinction between top and bottom would be less defined. For the first time I accepted a man as Master not for just the facade of power and raw sexuality, but for the need inside him that was opposite, yet so similar to my own.

As I watched him walking into the bedroom, his legs swinging uncontrollably as the crutches hoised his body up off of the floor, I knew that I would follow those prosthetic legs anywhere. When I stripped down on command, I had been offering him a gift: a gift of a whole body that was his to use and even abuse if he so desired. When his pants came down, and I saw what lay underneath those spit-shined boots, I gasped, not so much from shock as from the realization that they were in no way less beautiful than the rest of him. Just different. With my tongue sliding downward from his magnificent pecs onto his equally impressive cock, I kept thoughts about his prosthetic legs in the back of my mind.

I knew that sooner or later those legs would come off and that I would be faced with the reality of the stumps that lay underneath. And so I sucked and teased his dick until it spurted in my face, then I lay beside him, watching his chest heave up and down in the aftermath of his cumming. When the steady rise and fall had slowed down, I leaned in closer and whispered in his ear.

"Should I remove your legs, Sir?"

The words hung in the air like lead weights. How many Little Boys had ever asked their Masters that question? How many ever got the opportunity? And how many, if given the chance, could deal with the reality of their removal?

I could. And that knowledge, more than anything else, made my mind reel with all the possibilities. As I began the slow manipulations that came only seconds after getting his approval, I watched him as he shut his eyes, certain that I would react negatively to the sight of his leg stumps. Instead, I watched the convoluted flesh appear as if by magic from out of their plastic shell. The man now lay in front of me, more vulnerable than any other man, Top or bottom, could ever appear to another.

He was not a full-bodied human being. He was someone whose legs were missing only inches below his crotch. That he was able to even hook on prosthetic legs at all was amazing. There was so little left of what once had been a muscled limb that I could only barely comprehend the physical and mental pain that had accompanied its loss. looked down at my own body, far from perfect and far from pleasing to everyone who saw it. And for the first time in many years, I began to cry. I cried to think that anyone should have to suffer so much. I cried to think that the shell of protection he had built up all around him was nothing more than the consequence of a mine explosion. But as the tears spilled on the sheet, I realized that the tears were mostly for myself. I suddenly knew why I had been born with so much need for submission running through my veins. I was being prepared for something. . . for someone whose own needs outweighed my own. I understood why I was made to accept anger, and abuse. I understood why I was born with looks that were only passably attractive and a body that would never make heads turn at right angles. was born to be a disabled man's Slave.

Once realized, that knowledge was like the spark plug that lights the engine. I moved downward on the bed, wiping away any telltale signs of wetness. I smoothed the sheets out beneath him, lightly brushing his leg stumps as I played out my domestic fantasies. Then I kissed his cockhead, making it the jump-off point for the new round of body-worship on which I was about to embark.

Immediately, Chet's eyes opened up again. I smiled up at him as I wrapped my hands under his ass cheeks and began the slow descent from the tip of his cock to the point just under his swollen nut sac. I tickled his testicles playfully, saving the knowledge of their sensitivity for future use. Then I moved my head further downwards, into an area that for many would have seemed like the Twilight Zone. I saw his eyes throw out sparks as I ran my tongue over first his right leg stump, then the left. The flesh in both truncated limbs was soft and pliant. It was like kissing a pair of ass cheeks. I watched as his eyelids closed once again, joined to the face in a gesture of ecstasy. For the first time I realized just how sensitive the remains of an amputated leg could be. He realized it too. His hands grabbed the sides of my head and pushed my mouth even further into the softly folded flesh on either side of his cock. I could see the marks my inwardly sucking mouth was leaving as I worked my tongue first over the top of each leg stump, then onto the lightly scarred underside. The minute my lips made contact with the ends of his legs, his entire body exploded in burst after burst of uncontrolled shaking. Nobody had ever reacted so strongly to my ministrations before. It was as if his entire body was thanking me for the unexpected attention it was getting.

I reached down below my waist and grabbed my dick. I was too turned on to ask for permission to play with myself. Only when I had moved from one leg stump to the other did I realize my indiscretion. Quickly, I let go of my dick and started to play with my Master's cock instead. Immediately, it reacted to my touch by dribbling a thick stream of precum onto the already sticky sheet. I scooped up the slimy stuff and started to work it under the foreskin onto the exposed cockhead. With my hand rubbing the sensitive glans and my mouth working over the sensitive bottom of his stump, I was nothing more than a sex machine whose one purpose in existence was to make its Master cum.

That moment of truth came sooner than expected. As I made love to the spot where so many nerve endings had been severed, I could hear the quick gasps for air that signalled that he was close to cumming. I immediately increased the pressure on his stumps and grabbed the full thickness of his cock in my fist. Slowly, then with increasing pressure, I pumped his dork up until the room filled with a cry that was more animal than human. He had shot his wad, letting his spunk fly across the room with almost frightening force. I begged him to let me shoot my own wad, then began the furious pumping motions on my own cock that would soon make it release its contents.

With his command that I shoot still ringing in the air, I gave my dick a couple of furious pumpings that soon had it spewing its contents across the bed. So great was the burst of jism that it slid down on the side of the bed and started a pool of creamy white liquid on the floor. I watched as the pool grew larger and larger as more spunk dribbled downward. Ever the domesticated houseboy, I scooped up some tissues and wiped up the mess, laughing at the ferocity of both of our shootings.

"You did good, Boy. You did everything just like you was supposed to do."

He leaned back on the pillow, his shortened body even more appealing now that I had explored it so thoroughly.

"Even the part of sucking on your leg stumps?"

He thought about my words for a long time. Then he rolled over on his side and drew me towards him so that our faces touched.

"You didn't have to do that. I know that. You did it 'cause you wanted to, not 'cause I made you do it. I never would have made you do it, no matter how much I would've liked it."

Then his face lit up with an ear-to-ear grin that made my cock dance all over again.

"But I'm kinda glad you did. I hope you'll want to do it again some time. I hope you'll want to do everything again some time."

We were no longer Master and Slave. We were two men in bed together for the first time, exploring the possibilities inherent in our coming together and hoping that there was enough satisfaction gained to warrant a return match. There was. As we lay face to face our tongues became entwined again. I felt his body pressed up against mine, the lack of flesh and bone below the waist reminding me that he was not just another pick-up I could devour, then move away from to go on to my next meal. He was somebody, like myself, who could feel the mental sting of being rejected, or even loved, for all the wrong reasons. He was a man full of misplaced anger and emotions that came out at the wrong times and in the wrong places. He was someone who reminded me that you can't just enter a man's mental plane without coming away changed... but unbelievably satisfied for having taken the trip.

I thought about that as I remembered how he had seemed in the bar: his crutches propping up not only his body but his sagging ego. I wondered just how much of his defense system he would ever let down completely. I hoped that there would always be at least enough left to keep me in my place.

There was.

TGIF

It began over dinner. We were eating out, celebrating our fourth anniversary, and we had been drinking quite a bit of wine—it was very good wine, Don knew how to pick it—as well as cocktails before dinner, and as usual Don and I both downed several glasses of ice water with our meal. When I felt the need to relieve myself, I excused myself and began to get up from the table.

But Don laid his hand on mine, a gesture the two of us have come to define as: listen to what I am about to say. "No," he said, and his eyes said, obey. So I resumed my seat, a little surprised, and we continued with our meal. Our conversation was light, and I quickly forgot the incident, although I did not attempt to excuse myself again. Don thoughtfully kept my wine glass full, and we enjoyed a slow, luxurious dinner, followed by chocolate souffle and coffee. At Don's urging, I drank several cups of the coffee, which was quite good. We lingered over dessert, but finally it was time to leave.

When I stood, my need to urinate almost doubled me over, but Don hustled me out of the restaurant before I could say anything about it. Walking made it a little more bearable, so I didn't complain as the valet drove our car to the door and we got in.

As we drove away from the restaurant, Don reached over and placed his hand just above my crotch, pressing down on the bladder. I almost pissed then and there. We stopped at a red light and he turned to face me, a knowing and slightly malevolent smile on his face. "Happy anniversary, boy," he said, then leaned over to kiss me, his hand still kneading my bladder. Then the light changed and he sat up straight and drove on.

"Happy anniversary, Daddy," I said, in a small voice. He only called me "boy" when we were going to play. And sometimes I liked what he did to me, and sometimes I didn't. I wasn't enjoying it much so far, with my gut beginning to churn with the need to piss. But these times were his gift to me, and I was grateful whenever he would play with me, since each time I seemed to learn something new about myself, about my endurance, about my desires.

So I relaxed, and tried not to think about how much I wanted to piss, which only made me think about it more, of course. The drive home seemed to take forever, and I knew anyway that he wasn't going to let me piss when we got there. My dick was getting hard, both from the pressure of my bladder and from wondering how the rest of the evening was going to go.

When we did get home, he told me to get undressed. We were going out to the leather bar, he informed me, and he would dress me. I stood naked in the bedroom and listened to him putter around in the bathroom—the sound of running water got into my head and stayed there, so that I hardly even noticed the difference when he stopped whatever he was doing in the sink and got into the shower. Finally he came out, dripping wet, and handed me a towel. I very carefully dried him off, first his hair and beard, then his chest and back. Then I got down on my knees and dried his crotch and legs, and he allowed me to lick his cock and balls a little bit, which got my own dick hard again. When he was dry, he began to pick out his clothes, taking what seemed a maddeningly long time to choose each item. At his orders I laced his boots and zipped up his tight chaps.

Finally he was dressed and he turned his attentions to me.

I was standing before him, shifting from one foot to another with the need to piss. He gently fondled my cock and balls, then again pressed against my slightly protruding bladder. "Need to piss, boy?"

"Yes, Daddy," I said.

"No." His grip on my dick became crushing. "You only WANT to piss. If you NEEDED to piss, you wouldn't be able to hold it in, it would be running down your leg this very moment." He squeezed my dick again. "Wouldn't it?"

"Yes, Daddy."

"So you WANT to piss, isn't that right, boy?"

"Yes, Daddy." He looked as though he expected more. "Yes, Daddy, I want to piss." More? "Please."

He caressed my dick again. "No, I don't think so. Not yet. Maybe when you NEED to." He went to the play-drawer and pulled out a short length of chain. It was full-sized chain, like you'd use to chain shut a gate, but only about six links or so. He wrapped it around my balls, very tight, and padlocked it. He had done this before, many times, and I knew my balls would soon begin to swell and ache from the constriction.

When Daddy dresses me, he dresses me good. He greased up my ass and stuffed a butt plug in my hole. It wasn't too big-I knew that I could push it out by just clenching my ass muscles as though I were taking a shit. In fact, it might even happen by accident if I didn't concentrate on keeping it in. But he didn't strap it in the way he sometimes does. He simply told me not to let it go.

I couldn't help it, though, when he stuffed the plug up my butt, a few dribbles of piss leaked out of my dick. He looked very disappointed in me and I apologized abjectly for my lack of control.

He sighed. "I know, boy, I know. SELF control is beyond you. But that's what this is about, isn't it? I'll just have to take control myself."

He went to the play-drawer again and brought out a catheter, ripping open the plastic wrap. He greased it up and gently inserted it into my urethra, while I stood absolutely still with my hands behind my back. Daddy and I had to work long and hard to get me over my fear of anything going into my urethra—the first time he catheterized me I cried and cried but I was so afraid to move that I went absolutely rigid—to the point of muscle cramps. But Daddy was patient and willing to take me slowly to the point where I could take the catheter or the probes without fear. I understood that the time he spent training me to take it was just another expression of his love for me, and so now when he slid that tube into my cock it was just like almost any other intimate gesture between lovers. . . full of meaning and memories that only the two of us shared.

When the catheter had made its way into my bladder, my desire to piss became almost unbearable, but Daddy methodically but quickly inflated the tiny balloon in my bladder with a small amount of sterile solution. My desire to piss had not diminished—in fact, the increased pressure in my bladder only made me want to piss more—but I no longer had that ability. At least, not until Daddy allowed it.

Then he picked out the rest of what I was to wear: faded jeans, with a leather belt cinched TIGHT; a plain white T-shirt, and an old pair of boots. I was thankful that he allowed me the boots, since sometimes when he dressed me for the bar he would not allow me to wear leather at all. But tonight it seemed we were going on the motorcycle, so he even let me wear a leather jacket. And, of course, a helmet.

The vibration of the motorcycle was hell. Daddy rides only the best: a Harley that he works on himself, constantly fiddling with the engine so it has that deep, nasty growl Harleys are famous for. That deep, nasty growl worked its way up my legs and into my crotch, until it felt like there was a blender in my gut, whipping the piss in my bladder to a froth. I wanted to piss so bad I imagined my pants leg was wet, but it was only wishful thinking. I could only hang on to Daddy and pray we didn't stay at the bar long.

We did, of course. When I got off the bike, I was walking kind of gingerly, mostly because of the catheter in my dick, but also because my balls were beginning to ache something fierce, and because the vibration of the motorcycle on my butt plug, which under other circumstances might have been very pleasant, also served to loosen my ass enough to make keeping in the plug something of a challenge. Daddy saw me walking slowly and laughed. "You look like a feeble old man."

I didn't reply, only tried to project longsuffering dignity as I hobbled behind him into the bar.

Of course, lots of our friends were there, and Daddy led me around, hobbling, to talk to all of them. And he sent me for drinks—since we were on the bike and had been drinking earlier, we now were drinking only bottled water, but of that we drank at least four or five rounds, and of course Daddy insisted that I drink each one down. A couple of times during the evening Daddy had to piss, and he took me into the bathroom with him so I could stand by and watch. He made loud noises of satisfaction as he let loose.

Then I guess word got out that it was our anniversary, and nothing would do but that several couples there had to buy us drinks. Daddy accepted graciously, smiling, and toasted me with each bottle of seltzer water we drank.

I wasn't much good for conversation, since my world had narrowed down to the growing pressure in my abdomen. Eventually my eyes must have been glazing over, because Daddy relented and bid our friends goodnight. We left the bar (after Daddy enjoyed one final piss,) and climbed on his motorcycle.

The ride home was even worse than the ride out. I felt like I was going to burst. It helped a little bit to put my arms around Daddy and just hold on, so I did, and tried to let my mind go blank until we got home.

We did, finally, and I hobbled up the stairs and into the house behind Daddy.

I hadn't really expected to be allowed to piss right away, and so I wasn't disappointed. We went into the bedroom and he told me to strip. When I was naked I lay on the bed spreadeagle, and he bound my hands and feet to the bedposts.

He checked the chain on my balls and decided to tighten it a notch. My balls were already quite swollen, but that sensation had been so lost all night in my overwhelming desire to piss that I had hardly noticed how large and tender they were getting. He played a little with my balls, flopping them from side to side and pulling them out away from my crotch. The tender flesh pulled through the tight links of chain protested, and as he kneaded my balls I almost forgot how badly I wanted to piss.

But I was suddenly reminded when, without warning, he reached down and pulled the buttplug from my ass. The sudden release of pressure in one area caused sympathetic stirrings in another, and my bladder fairly quivered. Daddy began fucking my ass with the buttplug, sliding it in and out. It felt good, at least the fucking part, but it also made my desire to piss become actually painful. I struggled, clenching my ass muscles and moving my ass from side to side as far as my bondage would allow. It didn't do any good, of course. Daddy continued to fuck my ass until I had begun to yell my throat raw.

"What's the matter?" he asked. "Boy doesn't want his ass fucked? Aw—and I was going to fuck you with THIS, too," he said, pointing to his own hard-on, still trapped in denim and leather. I could only whine impotently. I DID want his dick. I LOVED his imagine l wanted to release.

TGIF

dick, and I would never, never, NEVER say no if he wanted to fuck me. But I wanted to PEE!

He teased me, rubbing his crotch and talking about how he had meant to fuck me. But if I didn't want it. . .

I begged. I whined. My dick was hard just from the humiliation of having to beg for it, the catheter still trailing from my pisshole. "Please, Daddy, I'm sorry, I didn't mean it. Please fuck me, Daddy. Please. . . "

And so on.

Finally he relented and pulled his hard dick out of his jeans. He released my ankles from the bedposts and pulled my legs up over my head, attaching the restraints at my ankles to my wrist restraints. Then he slipped on a rubber and plunged in.

Being bent over double as I was only increased the pressure on my bladder, but I didn't care, because my Daddy's dick was in my ass. Every pounding thrust set my dick and throbbing balls bouncing in front of my face. He fucked me mean, changing his style of thrusting every few strokes so I couldn't get used to any single rhythm. For a while he grabbed the base of his dick for aim, then each time he pulled out he would pull out all the way and then slam it back in.

I was talking, but I wasn't making much sense. I don't swear much at any time, but when I'm being fucked like that it's all "Shitfuckdamnohgodfuckjesusshit." And drool? My spit wasn't just dripping, it was flying, as I wrenched my head back and forth as though someone were slapping my face.

Daddy came, filling the scumbag with his first load, but I knew that didn't mean he was going to stop. It just meant he was going to pump harder, as his dick grew more and more sensitive. I clenched my ass muscles as much as I could, to squeeze his dick all the tighter, and within minutes he came again, this time with a long, slow moan that grew into a yell as he frantically pumped my ass even faster, spewing a second load of cum into the rubber.

He sat back on the bed, catching his breath, idly playing with my ass with one hand until his breathing calmed down. Then he slapped my butt—not very hard—and got up to go clean off.

I was doing MY best to calm down, too, since my cock was hard as a rock and aching, ACHING to come. And now that he was no longer fucking me, the twin discomforts of my bladder and balls came back to my awareness. My hard dick was hanging straight over my face, the end of the catheter tube dangling almost to my mouth. I listened to the sound of running water from the bathroom and tried not to imagine the gusher that I wanted to release. After Daddy had washed up and peed (!) he came out and sat on the bottom end of the bed, caressing my upturned legs.

I didn't even bother saying it. He knew I wanted to piss. Hell, I didn't know any more whether it was WANT or NEED to piss. The question was academic, anyway, either until he let loose the catheter or my bladder exploded. By then I didn't care HOW the pressure was released, I just wanted it OUT.

"I think we might let you pee some, now," Daddy said, in a very mild, reasonable voice, still stroking my thighs. "I know you want to pee real bad, boy, but you'd better listen to me."

The emphasis on "listen to me" required a response, so I said, "Yes, Daddy."

"Good boy." He reached up and began fondling my dick, which was still hard. "You've got a lot of liquid in your bladder, boy. And if you try to push it all out at once, you're going to hurt yourself. It's very important, that when I release the valve, you try very hard NOT to pee. You understand, boy? You're GOING to pee, no doubt about that. But you have to try NOT to, so that what comes out is only a little, at first. Then we'll let out some more, and then a little more, until you're more comfortable. Got it, boy?"

"Yes, Daddy."

Daddy released the water from the balloon inside my bladder. The tube itself was still pinched closed, so nothing happened except that a dribble of warm water flowed out and down into my face. Suddenly I knew that was where my piss was going, too, and when Daddy released the little plastic clip, I dutifully tried very hard NOT to pee and watched my piss come splashing down right into my face.

He only let a little out, which didn't relieve my desire to piss much, but in a minute he let out a little more, then a wait, then a little more. All of it dribbled down onto my face. My dick was rock hard, but that didn't stop me from pissing whenever Daddy released the clip.

Finally he stopped. I wasn't nearly through wanting to pee—there was plenty left. But the edge had been dulled. Daddy unclipped my ankles from my wrists and fastened my ankles to the lower bedposts so I was spreadeagle again. That relieved even more pressure from my bladder.

Next Daddy brought out the box of clothespins. He knows I love the clothespins—each one just a little tug on the skin, adding up and adding up as he adds more and more. My skin stretches. A lot. I can take a LOT of clothespins before it starts to hurt, and even then I like it.

He started with one on each tit, and then playfully clipped one on my nose. Then he started in on my chest. Soon there were two lines of clothespins across my pecs, and then line after line tugging the skin at my stomach. He ran lines of them out my arms and legs. He left my dick and balls alone, though, since they were otherwise occupied.

When he decided there were enough clips on me, he "played" them for a while with a couple of drumsticks. I know I had an idiot grin on my face: this was one of my absolute favorite activities. It was not painful at all: instead, the tightly-stretched skin is a turn- on for me, and the ripples in the lines of clothespins as he flicked, and flicked, were echoed as my flesh rippled and muscles flexed. Pure pleasure.

I even like it when he takes them off. Some of them—especially the ones in the tender flesh of my inner thighs, he simply whacked off with the drumsticks. Yeah! Then he would take out every other one from the lines that crisscrossed my chest and stomach, massaging sensation into my flesh as he went.

Finally they were all off (except the one pinching my nose shut,) and all that remained were the bright red "tracks" left by the pinching: it looked like I had giant red zippers zigzagging up and down and across my flesh.

Then, very gently, Daddy began massaging my whole body— being careful NOT to press on my abdomen. He stroked my chest and shoulders, playing a little with my tits and tickling me in the armpits. He bent over me and kissed me, his tongue exploring my mouth and sliding across my tongue with that electric "battery contact" feeling that I've only ever felt with him.

"Happy anniversary, boy."

I thought that meant the scene was over, but I was wrong. After he had kissed and rubbed me all over, Daddy got a blanket, dimmed the lights, then lay on the bed next to me and pulled the blanket over both of us. I was still bound spreadeagle across the bed, so I was taking up most of the room, but Daddy simply curled up on his side next to me, with his arm across my chest, and went to sleep.

I lay there, awake, listening to him snore. My balls were still bound, swollen and aching. I still needed—no, WANTED—to pee, just not as bad as before. Now I was just uncomfortable, not actually in pain. . . But as I thought about it, I never had actually been in pain the whole night. Just uncomfortable. Very uncomfortable. EXTREMELY uncomfortable. But not in pain.

I figured out pretty soon why Daddy left the clothespin on my nose. For some time now I had been breathing only through my mouth. And it was drying out. Already part of me was thinking longingly of a little something to drink—while another part of me, (a little voice piping up from down around my bladder,) was saying, "No, no! Don't drink any more! I want to PEE!" By morning I was going to have cotton-mouth like you wouldn't believe. And Daddy, sweet Daddy, was sure to give me SOMETHING to drink. His poor boy would be thirsty, after all.

There was no way I could sleep. I couldn't clear my mind. All I could think about was how much I wanted to pee and how my balls ached and how thirsty I was getting. And Daddy was snoring in my ear. Looked like a long night ahead.

Oh well, I thought. Thank God it's Friday.

REARNIEWMIROR

LEATHER'S FOUNDING DADDIES

The Wild One rode across drive-in screens in 1953, two years before James Dean's Rebel, and 16 years before Easy Rider (1969). Brando's archetypal leather image, via flamboyant underground S&M filmmaker Kenneth Anger's blasphemous Scorpio Rising, started integrating into street/bar style. By the late 1950's, the ironically named "Nellie's" in San Francisco's Tenderloin was the first bar where leather debuted. The classic poster of the insouciant Brando, black leather jacket and cap, elbow on motorcycle, hung, like a rushin' icon, over the bar.

That's the truth according to some.

NELLIE'S AND THE BLACK CAT

Others say the Black Cat, on the Embarcadero, was a bar more basically butch than Nellie's, because, informants swear, the BC's butch-style at night was a natural reflection of the butch-style many men lived by day. Leather may have debuted at Nellie's otherwise nelly bar, but butch had long been a constant at the BC. The Black Cat was, after all, near that greatest seafood/khaki/drifter concession, the Embarcadero YMCA!

The men naming Nellie's as the primordial leather bar claim the Black Cat was acceptable only on Halloween as a camp. (Halloween, that greatest of all Gay Feast Days, all informants agree, was basically pulled together in San Francisco at the Black Cat.) Whatever further research resolves, the Black Cat seems to be the first South-of-Market bar where leather achieved some prominence and longevity. Nellie's, almost immediately after the Advent of Leather, moved out of the Tenderloin to the Mission where it fell, if not from grace, then by location, from leather which preferred the deserted-by-night light-industrial area South of the Market Street Cable Car Slot.)

BUTCH GUYS/SISSY BOYS

A kind of uncivil civil war broke out among gay men: butch vs queens. This civil war, still as ongoing as any mideast crisis, hung its ultimate battle insignia, later, when the Tool Box, tired of "Sweaters" trying to break the enforced Leather Dress Code, nailed a pair of tennis shoes to the ceiling to "stamp out sneakers." South of Market, only on Halloween did any flamboyant drag dare rear its slutty head, and then only as a camp. Piss-elegant men were not an often visible species at The Black Cat.

ARE YOU WHAT YOU WEAR?

LA psychotherapist Guy Baldwin (whose "Ties That Bind" column is a regular Drummer trip to bountiful), says in issue 127: "Social rules say that straight is better than gay. The rules also say that vanilla is better than kinky. So there is hiding. And a part of us is cut off from ourselves." Baldwin's words are ever so true about leathermen's initial history: ambivalency, hiding, and dissembling were the order of the duplicitous Fifties when men with an appetite for leather were choking on lvy League and chiffon.

Linn Kiefer, a founding member of the California Motor Club, who resided on Nob Hill admitted to this kind of "Double-Gay" life some men were living deep within the already "Double-Life of Being Gay While Passing in a Straight World."

Two times "Double" can mean trouble. Early leathermen circumvented duplicitous identity as cleverly as Clark Kent to avoid trouble. The always sociallyprominent San Franciscan, Kiefer, said, "After cocktails and dinner at Gordon's, I changed in a phone booth into my jeans and teeshirt and headed South of Market." Levi's and leather were considered very outre! Penny loafers and tennis sweaters were the "accepted" gay style. Leather Drag, at the opposite end of Feather Drag, which was mostly relegated to the Sleazedom of the Tenderloin saloons, was judged by the received taste of elegant gay arbiters, as if it were automatically Rough Trade.

WHAT SIMPLE FOLK DO

That, precisely, was leather's appeal.

Every class-conscious man, from British lord to NY/SF upwardly mobile type, likes to "Fuck Down." As one observer said, "That's what the lower classes are for: sex." Smell envy there. Envy of the hyper-masculinity the middle and upper-classes imagine that blue-collar workers, drifters, and sailors automatically have because their work, work clothes/uniforms, and seedy lifestyle all signal the roguish romance of sexual emancipation and fuck-you social freedom. (Refer to any drawing by the wonderful artist, REX!)

Leather, so much a part of working gear —cowboy to lineman to biker, gave men, feeling their soft ribbon-clerk or corporate-lives made them softer, weaker, more "feminine" than the free-spirited construction worker who rode his bike to his job, a chance to buy into, and act out, the seemingly tougher men they envied with every inch of their hardons.

LEATHER AS PSYCHO-DRAMA

People costume themselves pursuant to their lust. Actor Laurence Harvey, straight as a stick, loved women so much, he was a cross-dresser. Homomasculine, but closeted, gay men love naturally-butch straight men so much, they become the real male impersonators. That's not politically incorrect, because the aim was to realize the ideal, and not to ape the hurtful macho stereotype. Imitation is not only the sincerest form of flattery, it is also the route to learning how to "up" a man's own true Butch Quotient. Many are the gay men of the 50's and 60's who purposely pursued "butch" jobs, from cop to sewer worker to trucker, to enhance their adult perception of themselves and spit in the sissy-boy image they had by-force grown up with.

The history of International Gay Leather is as much as psycho-drama of acting out manliness in one's soul as it is slipping on one's body a full set of practical leathers for riding.

"OUTLAW" FAGS & HELL'S ANGELS

Post WWII, and on into the 1950's, cars were expensive. Motorcycles were cheap. The Hell's Angels, emerging parallel during the same post-war time, were basically wild WWII vets who, remembering 200-pound Carol in Keokuk, preferred 2,000 pounds of hot metal between their legs and a blond Californicating mama riding behind with tits and puss leaning into the biker's shoulders and butt.

At the same parallel time, butch queers likewise preferred the economy and feel of motorcycles. Kicked-up lines of bikes appeared outside the Black Cat. What started as transportation became status symbol. Every weekend, one senior kickstarter reported, more bikes showed up. Guys took notice. Form follows function. What began as function became fashion. It wasn't long before bikers, standing in the Black Cat, decided, after the Saturday night saturnalias, to run together to a variety of Sunday party-destinations around the Bay Area.

HOW LEATHER GOT THE RUNS

Long before the hey-day hoe-downs of stereotypical Formal Runs sponsored by latter-day saintsnsinners, who cloned rival new clubs incorporated with legal charters, the prototypical catch-up-if-you-can Satyrs MC was biking casually out to Morrow Bay, Kings Canyon, and down to Valley Floor in Yosemite. The spur-of-the-moment first runs were a way, Linn Kiefer said, to get guys who had never been out of San Francisco to see a bit of California, Almost instantly, riders found runs basically great bar-alternative ways to breathe fresh air and hunt fresh meat. In the early 60's, the runs, dividing the distance between two cities, helped SF men meet LA men by rendezvousing at campsites halfway between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

THE "LAYERING" OF LEATHER

The bikes came first as economy.

The leather jackets and gloves came second as warmth and skid-proofing against terminal "road rash." Only much later, did leather, specifically with the "invention" of the detachable codpiece, lock down into a fetish unto itself and a signal for S&M sex.

The clubs came third because the bikes were always breaking down and riding together was more fun in a dozen different ways than being stranded alone along the freeway or a mountain road with a dripping Harley (which is the mechanical equivalent of a dick that starts dripping six hours into a man's trans-Atlantic flight to Amsterdam to start his vacation).

OUR LEATHER ADAM

Robert Frost, long before the excellent Zen and the Art of Motorcycle Maintenance, wrote: "We learn from our hands to our head." Frost, the "effete" poet could never have written about mending walls if he, as "butch" stonemason had never built one. Manly is what manly does. The mechanics of the motorcycle laid a basic sociopolitical lesson: men have resources and strength in numbers.

Think of that first day in leather history when the first man, the first gay dad (only a kid himself then), our Leather Adam, repaired his own bike and stood up and got a hardon seeing his formerly pristine fingernails crescented with grease just like the lubejockeys he'd lusted for in garages throughout his life! ("Thank you, Jee-SUSSS!")

CLOTHES EMPOWER THE MAN

This feeling, born of an acculturated symbolism, has little to do with straight or gay; it has to do with ability to handle machines stereotyped as "manly." That is leather's psychic symbolism, same as any male gear, construction to uniform: it signals to the outside world and affirms to the inner self that, for better or worse, as far as the clothes make/empower the man, here, fuck you!, is a man.

You know from your own experience that when you dress "tough," even straight guys treat you different; when you wear a cop ball cap, clerks smile more. Leather is a heavy symbol in a world that functions on the surface of symbolism.

SEIZE YOUR LEATHER!

The hardest thing to be in America today is a man.

Leather addresses the process head-on. So, gradually, long before colored hankies coded sex-act preferences, owning a bike became as much an overt signal of butch "sexual inversion" (as homosexuality was politely referred to in those days) as walking a poodle was a sign of queenliness. Leathers divided from Sweaters. The Black Cat, same as the Tool Box and Phoebe's after it, began to enforce a dress code to keep out the sweatery "leather groupies."

OUR DADS' FIRST BIKE CLUBS

Here, leather history, which like all history is an agreed upon lie, becomes touchy. Early on, the Warlocks MC existed first on paper as a bike club with one rule: a man had to have a bike to belong. At the same time, the Koalas and the Barbary Coasters were aborning as "buddy-clubs": a man needn't own a bike, but bikes were the usual mode of inexpensive transportation to bars and runs. As Kiefer remembers, the first bikers were relatively affluent and some were socially highborn, even in the Bay Area. Even so, the high-cost of a bike hardly prevented the dedicated lowerincome leather bachelor from buying his Harley.

CALIFORNIA MOTOR CLUB

The first bike club to be officially incorporated in California was the CMC on April 15, 1963. The California Motor Club (not "Motorcycle") was organized at 111 Gilbert Street, San Francisco, in a warehouse used by Jack Haines' father to clean used refrigerators and stoves. Its industrial atmosphere made for a perfect clubhouse. The idea of the club was Jack Haines' and another man, currently unnameable, as he is allegedly still in Mexico waiting for the statute of limitations to run out on whatever he has been accused of doing.

So, there in Jack's father's scrub-brush warehouse, like Cinderella from the ashpit, the CMC hoisted its colors and began a tradition, formalizing the leather-bike-club look and affecting community consciousness through cultivating, always, various political types, not the least of whom is the wife of Senator Milton Marks (but that's a later story!)

THE FIRST BIKE RUN

The first bike run was two guys nobody —not even they—remembers fucking their chrome pipes, hot leather seats, and each other in Yosemite.

THE FIRST OFFICIAL BIKE RUN

The first semi-organized CMC bike runs started in the 1961-62 summers as laidback sex campouts, which soon became highly designed encampments, kept aglow by Ray Floyd, the legendary CMC "Fire Fairy," and which soon staged shows made festive by the likes of Hollywood's distinguished British actor and cigar-smoker, Peter Bromilow (the handsome Bromilow was in Warner's Camelot, among hundreds of other featured screen and starring stage roles); flaming Flamenco dragster Jose Sarria; and dozens of other guys, who, like Mickey and Judy, enjoyed putting on a show where, unlike drag queens, they remained very much men even when costumed in female clothes!!

Until further information emerges, the First Official Bike Run was the CMC 1963 bash at Rainer Creek. Three hundred guys, many on their first trip from the City, got a chance to shit in the woods, eat catered foods, watch an all-electric musical-comedy show, and fuck their brains out. The Park Rangers, at first abashed, came around fast, inviting the CMC back the next year, "because no other weekend camping group had ever left a site cleaner than they found it."

SEAMEN'S SEMEN

The CMC, making hardly a nickel on its runs, decided that some kind of fundraiser was needed to line its coffers and raise some charity funds. November was pronounced a dead month in San Francisco: nothing much happening. So, voila! "Let's save November!" One CMC member knew someone who knew someone who could book a blue-collar venue, and the bike club, overwhelmed at the profit from the first party, invented, almost by spontaneous combustion, the Autumn ritual orgiastic extravaganzas still thrown annually: The CMC Carnival.

Unless you suffer from Reverse Alzheimer's or just came out post the A-Word: The CMC Carnival rivals only a papal conclave of cardinals in Rome; so important is it to leather history that its own specific generation will be addressed later.

"Hose his insides out." Gray put a long narrow attachment on the end of the hose, shoved it up the poor fucker's asshole, and opened up the water. The guy jerked and squirmed helplessly as the water forced itself into his guts and gushed out again.

and it wasn't empty. A nude man—in his late twenties, I'd guess—was scrunched up into it. Gray had a water hose and was using it to rinse the mud off the captive, the runoff pouring down the drain in the middle of the room.

"Knock it off, you motherfucking bastard! Let me out of here! Give me back my clothes!" the man protested loudly, to no avail, as Tim and Jeff scrubbed him vigorously through the bars, using longhandled brushes. All three workers were stripped down to jock straps, whose wet cotton pouches clung almost transparently to their cocks and balls; Tim's and Gray's pubic hairs peeked over the waistbands which swooped down from their hips, weighted by the water, and extended by semi-hardons.

"Hose his insides out."

Hearing the instruction from Jake, Tim and Jeff set aside their brushes, went to either side of the cage, reached in and each grabbed a foot. Overcoming violent, screaming resistance from their prisoner, they pulled his legs up and through the top of the cage and draped them over the end, then secured his legs and calves down to the vertical bars so that his bare ass was laid flush against the end of the cage.

Gray put a long, narrow attachment on the end of the hose, shoved it up the poor fucker's asshole, and opened up the water. The guy jerked and squirmed helplessly as the water forced itself into his guts and gushed out again. They reamed him out until the water flowed clear as it drained through the grate, then hosed and cleaned the floor and put their equipment away.

Jake had watched all this from a large, thronelike chair on a platform to one side of the room, sprawled-out legs putting the seams of his tight leather pants to the test. Now he got up and walked to the cage, and pointed to the captive; the muscles of his sculpted chest rippled reflexively.

"This, boys, is Charlie Crick. You remember him: he's that scum who was convicted a couple years back for beating and raping those two young high school girls. Remember how pissed we were when he got paroled so soon? They said he'd been rehabilitated.

"So today I'm dirt-biking some lonely firebreak, and who do you think I come across, and what do you suppose he's up to? That's right: he had some lovely little lady—that waitress from the grill, Molly, as it turns out. He'd kidnapped her at knifepoint in her own car, and was just about to do her some harm when I came long. It didn't take much to get him under control, and after I'd calmed Molly down, we decided between us that justice would best be served by leaving him to me. I promised to take him out of circulation for good, and she promised to keep quiet about it. We can count on her, she's a fine lady.

"I own him, free and clear. Nobody's gonna miss him, and nobody's gonna care what happened to him. He's mine to do with whatever I want; and you know what I want?"

The three nearly-naked subservients waited in silence to hear.

"I want you to have him, Gray. It's time you had a slave of your own. It's yours."

It was the first—and only—time I ever saw Gray smile: he looked like a kid that had just been given a pony, and couldn't wait to give it a ride.

"Thank you, Sir!"

"It's scum, like I said; just a dumb animal. But maybe you can train it to be of some use."

"Thank you, Sir!" Gray repeated, his smile melting to a sinister grin.

Jake moved to the workbench, picked up a studded leather harness, and helped Gray into it. It had various "equipment" attached to its waistband-leather thongs, handcuffs, a whip. Gray took off his jock, replacing it with a leather codpiece with wicked-looking pointed studs adorning it; it was kept up with a chain hanging on his hips. Another chain disappeared into the crack between his round cheeks and fastened to the bottom of the Jake stood back and gave an approving look. On command, Tim and Jeff stripped off their jocks, and Jake hooked chain leashes to their collars and led them to the platform, where he sat in his chair, a naked, leashed boy at either foot. He patted Tim on the head and rested his hand there, much to Tim's obvious pride, and said to Gray:

"Okay, hotshot. This dumb animal belongs to you: let's see what you can make of it.'

"Come on out of there, Jackass, I'm gonna ride your butt."

The jackass pushed himself as far as possible from the open end of the cage and grunted, "Fuck you. Nobody's gonna ride me."

"We'll see about that," said Gray, and he reached down and grabbed hold of Charlie's ankle and yanked hard. The captive held stubbornly onto the bars at the far end and twisted over so that he was face down and kicked back at Gray with his free leg.

"Just like a jackass," Gray mocked, and he bent down into the cage. He used his shoulder to pin Charlie's right leg to the top of the cage, and slammed his knee into the back side of the man's left thigh, pinning it to the floor on the opposite side. Then he took one of the leather straps hanging from his belt, reached between Charlie's spread legs, and quickly looped and tied it around his balls.

Before the jackass could react, Gray stood up and gave a powerful yank with the other end of the strap.

You never saw anyone move so fast; Charlie yelled out in pain and nearly flew out of the cage backwards, ass up in the air, running in reverse on his feet and hands.

As soon as he had him out of the cage, Gray used his foot to flip Charlie's left leg over the strap, and pulled the strap up so that the jackass had to arch his back way up to keep from having his balls yanked out. Only his shoulders and feet touched the floor as he pushed his pelvis desperately toward the ceiling.

"You're gonna have to learn to mind me, or your life won't be worth shit, Jackass. You hear me?"

Gray got no response, so he pulled up even higher on the leather thong.

"Yeah, yeah, I hear you," Charlie answered in short quick gasps.

"Yes, Sir!' is the proper response."

The jackass balked at this, so his trainer shortened the strap by winding it around his fist a couple of times and pulled up higher still, so high that Charlie's toes just barely touched the floor as he strained to take the tension off his stretched-out sack.

"Yes, Sir!" he cried through clenched teeth, and Gray casually dropped the strap and let him fall to the floor.

Charlie rolled onto his side in a prenatal position and tried to breathe through the pain, while Gray unhurriedly strapped wide leather bands around the captive's wrists.

"Get up," was the order, and it was quickly obeyed. For the first time, I got a full look at him: he stood easily six foot two, taller than his new "owner," had wide shoulders and a lanky but highly defined body. "Wiry" would describe him best. His face was angular, with dark, close-set eyes; his hair was long, curly and brown, and he had a lot of it covering his body. His cock, like his body, was long and lanky.

He stood there for only a couple of seconds before making a desperate attempt to escape by suddenly bringing both fists, clasped together, powerfully into the side of Gray's neck at the base of his skull. It knocked Gray to one knee, and Charlie made a break for the door.

Jeff, sitting at Jake's feet, tried to bolt after him in a spontaneous attempt to come to Gray's assistance, but Jake yanked him back with his leash, violently, so that the boy's entire body was jerked around by the neck, and he wound up prone across the floor in front of Jake.

Meanwhile, Charlie had found the door locked. He tugged on it wildly, as Gray got back to his feet and moved slowly at the man. He grabbed a fistful of the long, curly brown hair and started to drag his prisoner back to the center of the room. Charlie naturally tried to put up a fight, but he was no match for his shorter Master: Gray toyed with him like a cat with a bug, clearly relishing having such dominant superiority.

He wrestled his slave onto his stomach, limbs spread out, and laid on top of him, pinning him to the floor and grinding the sharp studs of his now-bulging codpiece into the naked flesh of his captive's buttocks. Charlie squirmed and bucked and grunted in pain. When, after a few minutes, he stopped his useless struggling, Gray grabbed a fistful of the shoulder-length hair, stood up, and this time did drag him to the center of the room, where he hooked cables hanging from the ceiling grid to the straps he'd secured to Charlie's wrists.

Next he bound leather straps to the jackass' ankles and chained them to eyebolts in the floor, so that his legs were spread out about three feet apart. Then he tied a loop in the leather strap still hanging from Charlie's balls, and dropped a weight onto it, pulling the slave's scrotum painfully towards the floor.

Charlie moaned quietly at the discomfort and indignity, displayed naked as he was, spread-eagled in the center of the room facing Jake, who grinned appreciatively. Tim still sat on the floor at his master's left; but Jeff, who had had the impertinence to act on impulse and without orders a few minutes earlier, was now prostrate, flat out on his stomach on the floor in front of Jake, with his forearms and wrists bound tightly behind him, the sole of one of Jake's boots firmly in the small of his back.

Gray walked around his jackass slowly, testing the bonds and looking him over.

"First," he said, "we're gonna have to get you cleaned off." He looked up at Jake, who responded to his unspoken request by unleashing Tim and directing him into Gray's service.

Tim sprang to obey. He went to the workbench and got a straight razor and some lathering soap, then got a bucket of water and set to work shaving the hair off the "animal" from the feet up. The captive struggled and strained and loudly cursed at first, but soon realized it was in his own best interest to remain perfectly still and hope the blade didn't slip. He continued to curse, though, and so Gray took a wide leather belt and delivered several stinging blows to Charlie's back, changing the curses to pleas to stop.

"Keep your fuckin' mouth shut—always!—unless spoken to, Jackass!"

The jackass learned quickly—for a dumb animal—and soon the only sounds heard from him were involuntary grunts of pain.

He bound leather straps to the jackass' ankles and chained them to eyebolts in the floor. Then he tied a loop in the leather strap still hanging from Charlie's balls, and dropped a weight onto it, pulling the slave's scrotum painfully toward the floor.

DRUMMER 129

Tim continued up the body with the straight razor, scraping the wiry hair from Charlie's entire body, until it was baby smooth. His moustache and even his eyebrows came off, but as Tim started on the scalp, Gray told him to leave a "mane," so that the finished product was totally, absolutely void of any hair except for a two-inch strip over the top and down the back of his head, like a long Mohawk. His pale white skin, streaked with bruises from the beating, glistened wet and reflected the soft yellow light from the lanterns.

Tim returned to his place at Jake's feet, and Gray said, "Nice job: now he looks like a mule. That's what I'm naming you: Mule. You ready for me to ride you, Mule?"

Charlie-rather, "Mule"-didn't say a word.

"Answer me when I ask you a question!" Gray yelled, and lashed the belt across his back as hard as he could. Mule cried out in pain, but gave no response, so Gray continued with the belt, asking, "You ready?" until he finally heard a "Yes," gasped weakly between cries.

"Yes,' what?" Gray yelled, delivering another blow.

"Yes, Sir!" came the quick response.

"Yes, Sir,' what?" and another blow from

"Yes, Sir, I'm ready for you to ride me," Mule panted.

Gray stopped the beating, came around and lifted his slave's drooping head by its mane, and stared him in the eyes from about three inches away. He snarled, "No, you're not. Not until you beg. And believe me, you will. You will beg."

Gray left him strung up there and went to the pot-bellied stove to put another log on the fire, even though it already burned hot enough to heat the entire room very warmly. He jammed the end of a wrought iron bar into the coals and worked the bellows to fan the flame. He took his time, leaving his subject to hang there wondering what his next lesson was to be.

Finally, Gray dragged a very sturdy-looking sawhorse in front of Mule. With his legs spread as wide as they were, the sawhorse stood just above hip height, and, when secured by chains to floor bolts, pressed snugly against his lower abdomen.

Now Gray tied a rope through Mule's legs and around each thigh, binding them tightly to the sawhorse, so that when next he released his captive's arms from their chains, he couldn't drop to his knees to take the straining weight off his stretched-down testicles.

As his arms fell free, Mule sagged forward over the horse, exhausted from the beating and from struggling against his restraints. Gray grabbed one wrist, then the other, and fastened them to ropes which tightened through floor bolts several feet in front of where his slave drooped over the sawhorse. He pulled the ropes tight, stretching the man's arms out and down to the floor, his legs spread, his butt up in the air.

Gray stomped purposefully around behind his sweaty helpless subject, stepped up into the gap between his spread legs, and, with a palm on each cheek, pressed them apart widely, until it looked like he might rip him in two right along the pale pink line that ran-usually hidden-down the center of his crack. Then he rammed his stud-covered pouch into the tender exposed ass.

Mule flinched the little that his tight restraints would allow, and whimpered. Gray brought the belt down hard across his back and told him to shut up, then slammed his crotch against his captive's ass again.

"The only sounds from you should be sounds of gratitude. The only words should be begging for more," Gray instructed, and he shoved his crotch back into the breach, and ground it into the tender flesh, at the same time dealing another punishing blow with his belt.

Mule stifled a cry of agony, and through clenched teeth gasped, "Thank you, Sir. More, please, Sir."

"Good boy!" Gray said. "You're catching on." And he delivered another lash with the belt, not so hard this time, and then stepped back and released the chain holding up his codpiece. It fell heavily to the floor, and Gray's large fat cock grew first out, then rigidly up in front of him, until it pressed firmly against his abdomen; it reached up to and beyond his belly.

Gray stroked his cock slowly a few times as he stared at the bright red sphincter pulsing fearfully, then, with no further ado, grabbed the sawhorse on either side of Mule's hips, and pierced the tiny, puckered asshole violently with his hot, throbbing spear.

Mule couldn't hold back an anguished yell of pain as the hard, dry cock penetrated him, but Gray just pushed all the harder, slowly forcing himself deeper and deeper up into the virgin asshole, until the entire shaft was inside, as the slave continued to cry out in pain.

"What's the matter?" Gray mocked. "The rapist doesn't enjoy being raped?"

He backed his cock out a few inches and slammed it forcefully back in again, at the same time delivering more punishment with the belt. He worked his pelvis back and forth, short strokes at first which gradually became longer. He would do a few easy, shallow strokes and then suddenly slam his dick in as deep and as hard as he could, getting a groan of misery from Mule, which, in turn, would earn Mule another taste of the belt across his back.

"What do you say, boy?" Gray demanded over and over; and Mule would pant, "Thank you, Sir," or, "Again, please, Sir," until, after some fifteen or twenty minutes of steady, constant pounding, he began to sound as though he meant it.

As Gray worked up a sweat, rotating and thrusting his hips, driving his excited member again and again into the ass attached to this animal that he now totally and unquestionably owned, I could see the animal becoming grudgingly resigned to his fate; I could see him losing any and all resistance he might have had inside him, as he became more and more compliant and surrendering.

Gray drove himself up into Mule non-stop for at least a half hour. Sweat ran down him as he continued his relentless rape, his victim also dripping with perspiration from the workout. He picked up the pace, slamming faster and faster and harder and harder. The weight dangling from Mule's balls swung back and forth and jerked up and down as the action got heavier. Chains jangled rhythmically to Gray's unrelenting, rapidfire thrusts.

Finally, Gray leaned forward and grabbed Mule by the mane and pulled his head back with it; he shoved his entire body weight towards his victim's upturned butt, driving his cock as far as it would go up his hole, and held it there. His hips quivered, and he let out a long, ecstatic moan.

Then, still holding tightly onto Mule's mane, he slapped the slave's side as he gave him a few more quick hard pumps and held another thrust deep inside his gut. His legs and hips quivered some more, and he gave out another moan as he let his body fall, draping over Mule's. He panted and moaned and rotated and undulated atop his prisoner's ass as he drained himself of what must have been a gallon of cum.

Mule panted heavily and said, "Thank you, Sir. Thank you, Sir," over and over, and he sounded truly grateful: maybe because he thought his ordeal was over.

After some time, Gray let go of the mane, stood up, and, like a cork out of a bottle of champagne, popped his large, spent cock abruptly out of Mule's raw asshole. He went around and lifted the mane, dangling his sticky wet cock in front of his slave's face, and said. "That felt real fine, boy. Nice ride."

"Thank you, Sir," came the dutiful reply. "Thank you' for what?" Gray demanded, Mule thought for some time before coming up with what he hoped was the right answer. "Thank you for riding me, Sir? Please ride me some more, Sir?"

"Good boy," Gray said. He rewarded him with a couple of pats on the side of the head, and I swear, Mule actually smiled a little smile, as though he was proud of himself for passing a test. Maybe he was just happy to get the right answer to keep from being punished further. Maybe he felt some relief that the rape was finally over.

But that relief was premature and shortlived.

Jake congratulated Gray on his successful training session. Then, leaving Tim behind, he led Jeff by the leash around behind Gray's pupil's upturned ass. Jeff, arms still bound behind him, dropped to his knees and gazed worshipfully up at his master, as Jake stood over him, legs wide apart, staring back while he slowly rubbed his crotch. Jeff's dick came immediately to attention.

Jake leisurely unbuckled his belt and undid his fly, then lifted his large balls and big, semi-turgid piece of meat out of his open pants, whose seat still clung tightly to his round, muscular buttocks. He stood with his hands on his hips to tease Jeff for a while, and to test his self-discipline. Finally, he gave permission with the wag of a finger, and his newest boy enthusiastically reached his face into his Master's crotch, licking the side of his thighs and then washing his balls with his tongue and mouth.

Jake's cock grew in appreciation. It was so large and thick and heavy that it took some time before it fully engorged, but the end result was incredible: I'd guess, honestly, maybe eleven inches! It laid out clear across Jeff's upturned face, and beyond. The apprentice tongued the shaft at its root, then puckered his lips around it. He moved his mouth slowly up and down its length, working all around its considerable circumference. He lovingly caressed the head, and carefully took it into his mouth.

All the while, his eyes fixed up on Jake, who just stood there over him, hands on hips, looking down at his bound worshipper.

Jeff worked diligently on the head of the cock, gradually taking more and more of the shaft into his mouth. He had about half of it in, slurping and sucking hungrily, trying to take more, but understandably having trouble, so Jake leaned forward slightly and took hold of the boy's head in both hands, tilting it backward. Then, slowly and steadily, he bent his knees forward and lowered his body until, amazingly, he had slid the entire huge piece of meat into Jeff's mouth and down his throat, which I could see literally expand to accommodate the fat cock. Jeff's eyes glazed and watered, and he convulsed slightly, but he didn't gag; a real trooper.

Jake held his furry crotch against Jeff's nose for a few seconds, rocked his hips from side to side, and then slowly withdrew inch after inch, until at least the head backed out of the boy's warm, eager mouth. Jeff's lips softly enveloped it to the very last millimeter, savoring it, reluctant to let it go.

Jeff gasped in air through his gaping mouth, ready for—and hoping for—another taste. Jake obliged him, and again, the trooper took it all. When he pulled it out, his engorged pole glistened with saliva, and a string extended in a long, wet, silvery strand from its head to Jeff's mouth.

"That's enough," Jake said, and Jeff sat back on his heels, still staring intently, looking somewhat disappointed.

Jake turned to the reddened asshole propped up in the air next to him and reached up and grabbed a chain hanging from the grid. He took a wide stance, one foot slightly in front of the other, and, using the chain and his powerful legs together, suddenly shifted and slung all his weight crashing into the pulsing, sore opening ramming his entire huge shaft all the way to the hilt with one brutal thrust.

Mule involuntarily let out an anguished response, something between a wail and a grunt. Jake pulled back fast, ripping his rigid tool all the way out of its victim; and then just as fast, rammed it all the way in again, eliciting the same response from Mule.

"Aw, shit," Jake said with disgust. "Tim, get your ass down here to muzzle this wimp!"

Tim hurried to obey. Jake had him lay down on his back between Mule's stretched-out arms and put a leg over each of the captive's shoulders. Then, following Jake's instructions, Gray strung Tim up by the ankles from the ceiling grid. He raised him just high enough so that Mule's downward-hanging face nestled snugly in the crack of Tim's suspended ass.

"Lick," Jake ordered. "Very carefully, if you want to keep your balls."

Mule licked. Very carefully. Gray took his mane and used it to work his face all around and well into Tim's crotch and ass, as Jake slowly moved his cock around inside the prisoner. Soon they had Mule's mouth and tongue working feverishly in Tim's crack, Gray using the belt across his back whenever he slacked off.

Tim was loving it, writhing gently and moaning softly, his hard dick slapping back against his stomach.

Jake continued to pump slowly, thoroughly exploring every inch of Mule's insides. Now and then, he would suddenly pull back and slam another driving fuck into the jackass, forcing a grunt from him that was now muffled by Tim's cheeks closing around his mouth. The grunts started to sound less like pain and more like pleasure, and I noticed that Mule's cock had become hard: evidently, Jake's probing wand was working some kind of magic. Or maybe the jackass just liked the taste of Tim's ass.

Receiving Jake's permission, Gray squatted over Tim's face and began sucking on his "brother's" dick; Tim lifted his head and strained his tongue to service the back of Gray's balls and his ass.

Jake's rhythm picked up as he pounded into Mule like a piledriver. Mule just slurped and slavered into Tim's ass all the more, eating him out with enthusiasm now.

The piledriver became a jackhammer, ramming faster and faster until Jake let out a moan of pleasure and exploded his load inside Mule. He pumped a few more times as he leaned over, reached around Mule and used his fingernails to sharply bite into the captive's nipples. He pinched them hard and pulled them out far from the chest as he continued to drain his cock into Mule's ass.

I was amazed at what happened next. Jake pumped his cock into the jackass a couple Mule's face was slimy wet with Tim's juices and his own spit. Jake told him to take the boy's still hard cock into his mouth. Mule obeyed at once. "Keep it there. If my boy's dick comes out of your worthless mouth before he shoots again, I'll sew your lips closed with barbed wire."

more times, and then held it pressed as far up in his ass as possible, and as he did, I swear, cum squirted from Mule's dick! Untouched! Jake pumped again, and another spurt shot out, and as he pressed one last time, even more cum oozed out in a slow steady trickle to the floor. I could hear muffled screams coming from Mule as he continued to vigorously slurp Tim's asshole.

For his part, Tim's writhing had turned into convulsive spasms, and he moaned into Gray's ass as he emptied a load into his big brother's mouth. This in turn triggered Gray's second ejaculation, this one receiving a helping, stroking hand from Tim.

Jake pulled out and hiked up his leather pants, fastening them at the waist, but leaving his "equipment" flopping out of his open fly. He turned to Jeff, who still sat staring up at his Master, his raging hard cock aching for release.

"It's a good thing you're tied up that way," Jake laughed down at him. "You know how much willpower you've got when it comes to playing with yourself. I'd hate to have to punish you when we're all having so much fun."

"Yes, Sir. Thank you, Sir," came the earnest reply.

"Stand up," Jake ordered.

Jeff did, and Jake rewarded him for his patience by grabbing his throbbing hard-on and leading him by it to Mule's raw opening. He inserted it into the hole, but just deep enough to take in the head.

"Keep it right there, boy," he said, and he walked slowly around the sawhorse, eyes fixed on Jeff.

He grabbed Mule's mane and lifted his face out of Tim's crack. It was slimy wet from Tim's juices and his own spit. Jake put Mule's head between and through Tim's legs and told him to take the boy's still-hard cock into his mouth. Mule obeyed at once, no fight at all left in him, and unwilling to test Jake's patience.

"Keep it there. If my boy's dick comes out of your worthless mouth before he shoots again, I swear I'll sew your lips closed with barbed wire."

Jake walked slowly up to his chair, turned, and sat, legs spread wide, his large meaty cock and balls pouring out of his pants.

He let Jeff suffer a couple more minutes, then laughed and said, "Good boy. Okay, have at it."

Jeff, usually the shy, quiet one, let out an uncharacteristic war- whoop and plunged in enthusiastically. Mule grunted with every thrust, but was extremely careful to hold tightly onto Tim's cock with his lips. Tim undulated his hips, working his dick around in the captive's mouth.

Jeff drove fiercely and rapidly into Mule's hole, always keeping his eyes on his Master, Jake, who sat fondling himself on his "throne."

Once, an energetic backstroke brought Jeff's cock all the way out of Mule's ass, and it bobbed wildly in the air until he could angle it back in. It wasn't easy with his arms bound behind him, his excited dick twitching and bouncing around like it had a life of its own, and Jake laughing at him. But he eventually managed, and continued his attack on Mule's rear, while Mule tried to keep from choking on Tim's cock.

It didn't take Jeff long to shoot his wad, and when he did, his cum, blended I'm sure with Jake's and Gray's, sloshed from Mule's overflowing asshole.

As Jeff let out his last ecstatic moan, Mule gagged and gurgled as Tim forced his rod up into his throat and held it there. Cum and saliva dribbled down Tim's shaft and onto his pubic hairs as Mule tried to get oxygen to his lungs through his gaping mouth.

Everybody spent, Jake got up and released Tim and untied Jeff, and had them take up their respective positions at his feet on the platform. He signalled Gray to continue with his slave.

Gray lifted up Mule's head by its mane, and, in a low, even voice said, "You belong to me, now. Your life is mine. You are my total slave. Any questions?"

"No, Sir," came the quiet, subdued response. Mule was completely defeated, absolutely humbled.

"Whose property are you?" Gray demanded. He wanted to hear it.

"Yours, Sir. I belong to you, Sir."

"Right. Let's see that nobody forgets that."

He dropped Mule's head and went to the fire. He picked up the iron rod whose tip he had wedged into the coals. He took it over and held it in front of his slave's downturned face so he could see for himself the brand he would soon wear: the same mark I'd seen on the boys' butts earlier.

I expected Mule to protest, or at least express some horror, but he didn't even have the will to beg. He just hung there, passively waiting for this next torture.

Gray swaggered around behind him and, with both hands, pressed the glowing hot metal firmly into the smooth left buttock. I heard a kind of sizzling sound, but only for a half-second: it was drowned out by a long, anguished cry, as Mule jerked reflexively. His whole body tensed for a moment before he went limp and quiet once again. He breathed deeply and rapidly trying to deal with the pain.

Gray put aside the branding iron and released Mule from his various restraints, helping his exhausted body over the sawhorse and onto his hands and knees. The jackass looked as though he could barely support himself on his four limbs as Gray herded him, with light taps on the ass from the belt, back into his cage.

Gray brought him a bowl of water, and Mule lapped it up thirstily, not needing to be instructed how a dumb brute drinks. He had learned his place.

ROUGH STUFF

A Dad and His Boys

She was black, beautiful, my good friend, and a lesbian. I was white, wildeyed, my own worst enemy and queer. She was involved with another woman; I was involved with another man. So, of course, we fell in love with each other and decided to have a family together.

The last words my mother ever spoke to me were, "My God, she's black!"

My older sister's last words were a bit more heterosexually philosophic. "Well, at least it's a woman!"

Many of our friends were torn between "Harumph, what's HE trying to prove!"

"Harumph, what's SHE trying to prove!"
The night our first son was born in 1969,
Dr. Darling (yep, that was his name!) said to me, "Well, Dad, how does it feel?" No one had ever called me that before and the feeling that washed over me was a powerful aphrodisiac.

I celebrated, after leaving the hospital and making all the necessary phone calls, by having a few drinks at the STUD in San Francisco with a good friend, and then going to bed with the bartender after closing.

As he closed the door behind us in his bedroom above the bar, he turned to me and said, "Thanks for waiting for me, Dad". No man had ever called me that in the context of sex before and suddenly, there were two new aspects to my life . . . aspects that would forever change me and the way I saw myself in the world.

But the distinction between the two Dads was immediately clear to me. The boy in the hospital nursery was the reality in my life. The "boy" in the bedroom above the STUD was the fantasy in my life.

Two more sons and many (my oldest is now married and running his own small business) years later, people I meet are still not able to make the distinction between the two. Was I queer or not? How come I was married, raising sons and still to be found hanging out with the boys?

At the time, family members were even more confused. What a relief! I had finally seen the error of my sexual ways and had now suddenly become straight! No one wanted to believe that I was still queer, she was still a lesbian, but we were in love and having a great life together.

People who discovered our multiple sexualities wanted to know just what was going on? Was something happening at home between me and those boys entrusted to my care? Was Daddy teaching those boys more than they'd ever learn in school? Could I be trusted?

It was amazing to watch gay men who would never think of questioning the morals of a heterosexual father with daughters think absolutely nothing of walking up to a gay father with sons and asking "Do you ever get it on with your boys?"

The question was asked many times—by well-meaning men who thought it entirely proper—as was the request for a menage involving my sons and me! The assumption being, after all, as gay men we have no morals and, after all, isn't that the ultimate fantasy, Daddys and sons? It has always been incredible to me how many grown men are unable to separate what is possible and desirable in real life from what is possible and desirable in fantasies.

I have been divorced now for years. Our paths began to lead down different roads and like so many other marriages, we split up. When it happened, I left to live with another man and shortly after, my sons came to live with us. No great extra drama or trauma. The boys had always known I was queer (Yes, queer. A word I enjoy using), and I was the one with the real yen for the parenting role. Unfortunately, my new partner didn't share the yen with the same enthusiasm I did.

Five years later, my relationship with him ended and several months after, I met the "boy" who became the most important "significant other" relationship in my life.

Suddenly, I had two entirely different "boy" relationships going at the same time. One with my biological sons and one with the man who was also my "son" and who shared my bed and life.

All of them call me Dad, and there are many similiarities in both relationships but there are major differences as well.

The most sharply defined difference begins at my bedroom door. The boy who calls me "Dad" in the throes of passion, who allows me to take my pleasure when and how I want it and thanks me for it after is, in many important ways, a "fantasy" reality. Oh, he exists. He's flesh and blood and has a name and a life and sends me the biggest card on Father's Day. I love him as I have no other person in my life, but as my "son", he exists as "our" fantasy.

His "brothers", my biological sons, are as real as it gets. Let's not kid each other, two gay men living with three teenage sons isn't exactly the "Donna Reed Show", nor your everyday occurence, but it was a reality at our house and one I felt a great responsibility for.

You see, I have this dream of a world where no one thinks twice about my being gay, having a lover and a family. This wonderful world were everyone gets to be whatever they are (you remember the '60s, don't you?)

Well, the way I see it, I've just finished raising three intelligent, interesting, handsome men who have a gay father. And someday, they'll have sons and daughters whose grandfather is gay.

I now have aunts, uncles and cousins who tell me, "You've raised such wonderful children!" with a sense of wonder in their voices that lets me know the rest of the sentence is "And you're queer!"

They don't always get it . . . but they see it happening. And much to their credit, have been very supportive over the years.

No, I didn't sleep with my sons. No, I didn't take them out for sleazy nights on the town or share them with the men I met.

But I have walked down Fifth Avenue with them and my lover in a Gay Pride Day Parade.

They have served food and drinks when my men's group (100 strong) had their anniversary parties at our loft.

I've shown up at their school plays with my "boy" and clapped the loudest. I've cried at their graduations and cried over their failures.

And it was not uncommon at our house to hear a fifteen year old yell, "Daddy! Turn on your TV, Lyle Alzado is on!"

They have been my responsibility for twenty years, a responsibility now ended as one by one they've left the nest. A responsibility I am proud to have had and glad to be done with.

Have I been a great father? I don't know. I certainly don't expect to have to start posing for a monument, but I stuck it out and I've been the best father I knew how to be. And I can say without shame or embarrassment, no sons ever had a father who loved them more.

So, you ask, have I been trying to prove something all these years? You're damn right I have.

DRUMMER 129

How To Place Your Ad In Dear Sir:

Your ad: First, give us the top line for bold type. There's no extra charge for this attention getter!

Print it out: Don't worry about using abbreviations to save money—you are paying by the word—not by the number of characters. Tell 'em what you want and what you're offering. At these prices you can be as wordy as you wish.

Where will your ad run? Under your state or geographic section. If you would like your ad to appear under Nationwide or International instead of your state or country heading, say so. Ads for Models, Organizations, Mail Order, or Services will appear under those respective categories.

Deadline? There isn't any. Your ad will be placed in the next issue. Subsequent insertions appear chronologically. Allow 60 (repeat, 60) days for your ad to appear. WE MEAN IT.

Discount? When paying for more than one insertion, you may deduct 10% on the additional insertion(s). Our rates are a fraction of the competition.

Want a Drummer box number? Add a buck, that's all. The responses to your box will be forwarded to your address as soon as we receive them. Box numbers can be assigned for personal ads only.

Phone number? Run your number for instant results. But include a dollar for us to call you to verify the number for your protection and ours.

Payment? Pay by check, money order, Visa, Mastercard or American Express. If paying by credit card, include card number and expiration date along with your signature.

Censorship? No, Sir! — provided you keep references to minors, animals, prostitution or drugs out of your ad. These we cannot accept. And, of course, you must be 21 or better.

IT'S THAT EASY! And that's the way it should be. The pages of this magazine have always been a communication center for leathermen! By expanding and simplifying Dear Sir, we are doing just that. No deadlines, no headaches, no $7 box charges, no $20 cancellation fee, no $5 phone verification fee. And only 50¢ a word!

FOR LEATHER FRATERNITY MEMBERS ONLY: Your 50-word ad is included for the next twelve issues as part of your membership. Change your ad as often as you like—but remember to keep your ad within the 50-word limit to allow space for everyone else's. Any Leather Fraternity ad not complying to this limit will be edited.

There is no box charge and if you send replies to other advertisers you don't need to bother sending in the $1.00 forwarding fee per envelope. How about that! The Leather Fraternity is a real deal even without these features. With them, it is an even bigger bargain!

DROWNING

How To Reply To A Dear Sir Ad:

How to reply to a Drummer box number: Answering a Drummer box number is easy; but the few rules we have are hard and fast, so observe them or else. 1) Seal your letter in an envelope on which you have written the box number on the back flap in pencil. 2) Put your return address on the envelope if you wish the letter to be returned to you should there be some problem with delivery. 3) PUT PROPER POSTAGE ON THE ENVELOPE— domestic postage is 25¢ for the first ounce, 20¢ for each additional ounce. Foreign overseas postage is 45¢ per one-half ounce. 4) Put the sealed letter(s) and a buck ($1.00) forwarding fee for each in another envelope and send it to DESMODUS, Inc., PO Box 11314, San Francisco, CA 94101-1314. LETTERS PROPERLY NOT PREPARED WILL BE DESTROYED.

Desmodus will forward responses to ads in back issues. However, we cannot guarantee that old addresses will still be valid. Remember, the US Postal Service will not return mail without your return address. Keep in mind that people do move and their needs and desires do change.

IT'S YOUR FANTASY. . .

You know the one. You're lying in bed, thinking of nothing in particular, when the image of a bearded GM (41, 6'2", 190, dark blond hair) enters your mind and your hand drifts downward to your cock. As you lie there stroking, you fantasize about what we are doing together. No one censors your thoughts-what we are wearing, where we are located, who (if anyone) is with us, what (if anything) you might want to have handy, what (if anything) is said and what we do together is limited only by your imagination. As your mind is allowed to freely wander, you stroke harder until you achieve the type of orgasm that only a perfect fantasy can provide. Share those thoughts with me and your fantasy just might become reality. Other than the above information about me, you should assume only that I'm open to any and all suggestions and would love to make your fantasy and mine come true. Box 991, Church Street Station, NY, NY 10008-0991. Photo and phone would be helpful.

MAIL ORDER

The California law reads that anyone conducting a mail order business, or offering items for sale through the mail and using a post office box or mail drop service, must reveal, in all advertising, the address at which the business is being conducted. To advertisers, this address must be included in all ad copy. To readers, the address that appears at the end of a mail order ad (in parentheses) is the address required by state law. Most firms still prefer that correspondence be sent to the listed box number.

Some Book Reviews for You

Here are some thoughts about three books that claim to be useful to those who are interested in same-sex relationships. The claims are true; the books are useful, but not all in the same way. Read on and go for the book that best suits your interests and reading style.

PERMANENT PARTNERS, by Betty Berzon, Ph.D., E.P. Dutton, New York, 1988, 354 pps, hardback.

As far as I know, this is the newest book to discuss gay and lesbian relationships. It is Berzon's second major contribution to gay literature, her first being the influential and well-received Positively Gay written in 1984

Ms. Berzon has long been prominent in the field of gay and lesbian psychotherapy in Los Angeles where she has well established credentials as an important activist and community leader. She is also in demand as a lecturer and training consultant. In short, she is just the sort of person you want to be writing a book whose subtitle is "Building Gay & Lesbian Relationships That Last."

Right away, when you look at the table of contents, you can tell that this book is gonna talk truth. Chapter Two is called "Building Compatibility: Living with Differences. . ." and in it Berzon talks to us about how we choose our partners and how we guarantee trouble if we select partners for unhealthy reasons. She offers a list of traits she feels are useful in partner selection that should be chiseled in stone somewhere.

Other chapters explore the impact of homophobia on your partnerships, and figuring out just what's wrong when trouble starts to brew. Those of us in the Leather/SM scene will want to pay special attention to the chapters that deal with power and control issues, learning to fight fair—"deal with conflict constructively." She gives us some new thoughts about jealousy, too.

Most of the books on same-sex relationships deal with these types of issues, but Berzon's book goes much further by addressing differences in sexual desire, (a great chapter on) money issues, and dealing with our families. This is the first such book that also devotes a whole section to how to use available legal mechanisms for (Chapter 11) "Empowering Your Relationship Legally." It covers contracts, property, insurance, and other matters that will always come up during long-term relationships.

Lastly, I found nothing in this book that would lead me to believe that Ms. Berzon feels that Leather/SM relationships are not a viable way to be involved. Indeed, in my own work with kinky couples, these same issues come up regularly.

The book is easy to read, and Berzon's stories about herself made me feel like I had sat down and was talking with her. Perhaps best of all, she offers very good examples of dialogue for how to and how not to communicate for problem solving. If you have only $20.00 to spend on a book this year, buy this one.

GAY RELATIONSHIPS, edited by John De Cecco, Ph.d., Hayworth Press, NY-London, 1988, 290 pages, hardback.

This book is actually a collection of academic research articles written about gay relationships. The articles were first published in the JOURNAL OF HOMO-SEXUALITY at various times, John De Cecco has been professor of Psychology at California State University, San Francisco where he pioneered research on various aspects of the gay experience.

Each section of the book offers articles which De Cecco apparently feels address issues important to gay coupling. After an overview section, he moves us on to a section called, "Where To Look For Lovers." Other sections include, "Whom to Choose As a Lover," "How to Maintain a Gay Relationship," and "How to Solve Problems in Gay Relationships." Sounds good, huh? Unfortunately, these titles are a bit misleading. To me, the section titles suggest that the articles will be helpful in guiding hopeful singles and couples—they aren't much help. "Where To Look For Lovers" is mostly rather dry research done on old (1976 and 1977) classified ads from the ADVOCATE. True, it does offer some interesting findings about those who advertised for partners in the ADVOCATE over ten years ago. I think this sort of stuff is mostly of interest to other researchers, and not the courting gay public.

In the section on "Whom To Choose As A Lover," there is an interesting study that compares the differences in perceptions of potential partners for gay and straight partner seekers (Mary Laner, Ph.D.). Again, it's interesting to research types, but most Drummer readers will be bored to tears, and gays in general won't find it a readable page-turner either.

The introductions to the sections that De

Cecco himself writes were the best parts of the book because he is talking to a general audience; the academics are talking to each other. Buy this one if you want to get a feel for what research in homosexuality is like.

THE MALE COUPLE, David Mc Whirter, M.D. and Drew Mattison, M.S.W., Ph.d. Prentice-Hall, Inc. Englewood Cliffs, NJ,

1984, 341 pps, paperback

Mc Whirter, a psychiatrist and Mattison, a psychologist, team up here to provide the best and most wide ranging information about male couples so far. Their book is a very readable report of a research project in which they studied some 133 male couples for about eight years.

Although the men who were studied were mostly white, they were from varied walks of life, income, education and background. These couples had been together ranging from one year to thirty seven years, and were living in the San Diego area. Lots of descriptive data was collected with interview technique and questionnaires. Some was collected anonymously to ensure honest answers.

Perhaps most importantly, the researchers discovered and describe the stages of development that male couples seem to go through as time passes. Also, it seems that each stage of development has rather specific problems that a couple must solve if the relationship is to survive in a healthy way. The stages, the problems and some solutions are all described and talked about in easy language.

Incidently, they found that all the couples had made some provision for outside erotic experiences by the end of their fifth year together. This and much other new information about how male couples really operate is to be had between the covers of this very fine book.

I loved reading the many stories that the couples had to tell about their years together—this stuff just isn't commonly available. Here is a gold mine of information for courting couples, the newly coupled, and old marrieds as well. The researchers do comment that a number of the men studied were kinky, but they do not comment further on this aspect of their lives. A good book to have in your library if you are curious about your own relationship issues.

Guy Baldwin, M.S. is a psychotherapist in private practice in Los Angeles where he works with those on the sexual frontiers.

GRINGO DADDY

south-of-the-border boys photos by Jim Moss

South of the Border

Leather is brown, not black. It darkens only with long exposure to the sweat and other body fluids of horses, burros, and the abundant human male animals. Rope is coarse hemp not smooth braided nylon. It stays harsh and abrasive even after long hours of confining struggling male flesh.

NOTEBOOK

Dear Larry,

In all that I have read of your advice, whenever you comment on AIDS, you always write as if you were addressing an audience of uninfected people. Don't you realize that there are many of us "out there" who are either HIV positive or actually diagnosed? Why don't you direct some of your helpful comments to us?

-A PWA, Houston TX

Dear Tex,

The problem I have in attempting to advise people who have been infected with the AIDS virus is basically two-fold. First, I'm not a doctor; if a person has been diagnosed with this (or any) disease, I really have no business trying to advise him on his treatment. Nor will I, other than to try directing him to a proper medical practitioner. Although I might try to allay his panic until he gets to the MD, that's as far as I'm willing to go. Secondly, most guys who have been diagnosed are quickly caught up in the "underground" which seems to know about each new or promising discovery long before it becomes general knowledge. Much of the information that I have passed along in this column has come from friends who are in this position-and the only reason I felt I should relay it is that many guys who are HIV positive live outside metropolitan areas, hence do not have easy access to the "grapevine." (Read on.)

Dear Larry,

I think you answered a question similar to this a year or more back, but on the chance that the situation has changed, I thought I'd pose it again. I have friends coming to visit me from Europe later this year, and I know that at least one of them has been diagnosed with ARC. Do you think they will have any trouble getting through customs? Are there any precautions they should take?

-Worried Host, New Orleans, LA

Dear Host,

AIDS (or) ARC is one of the diseases on the list which will keep people out of the country, if it is known that they have it. Although I have gone through US customs many times, it has never been as a non-citizen, so I don't know exactly what questions they may ask your friends when they attempt to come through. There was a recent (Feb/Mar '89) case of a Dutch guy coming in to attend a conference on AIDS, who was detained by customs agents in Minneapolis International Airport, because they found AZT in his luggage. (They eventually let him enter, but only after a protracted battle in court.) I can't, of course, advise your friends to lie to our Federal officers, or to conceal their medications (if any,) but if they don't they might get shafted. With our rate of HIV infection one of the highest in the world it is difficult to understand the logic in all this, but who ever said our administration was even rational, let alone logical?

Dear Larry,

I'm writing because I hope you can resolve a question that has been the source of some contention between me and a close friend of mine. We are both admitted size-queens, and despite the safety precautions we have to take, both of us just love to suck cock. Of the European races, I maintain that the Italians are the best endowed. My friend claims that this honor belongs to northerners, like the Germans or Scandinavians. I know you have spent a lot of time in Europe—probably more than both my friend and me combined. Could we solicit your opinion on this debate?

-Cal, Philadelphia PA

Dear Cal,

You must understand that there has never, to the best of my knowledge, been any scientific research into the relative sizes of European pricks. However, I do recall reading some silly supposed survey a number of years ago that gave the prize to the English. On the basis of my own observations, I have to say that there are gems to be found in almost every country, but also a great diversity. I have certainly observed some Italian beauties, but having spent more time in Germany than any other country, I can testify from first-hand experience that these gentlemen have nothing to be ashamed of. Then there are the Spanish and Portuguese. . . and the Greeks. . . and the Poles. Oh, it is very hard to choose. Why not simply enjoy what you can get and quit worrying that there might be a bigger one someplace else?

Dear Mr. Townsend,

I don't know if you will want to answer this in your column, but I hope that you will be kind enough to drop me a note if not. I am a 24 year old woman, and I have a fairly long-standing (one and a half years) relationship with my boyfriend. We have engaged in some light bondage and spanking, always with him as the submissive. So I know that he has some interest in what I guess you guys call "S&M," but it never dawned on me that he might be gay, or bisexual, until I came across a stack of Drummers and other magazines in his apartment. I asked him about it, and he admitted that he was "bi" but swore that he wasn't playing around with anyone else, man or woman. I guess I believe him, but it still leaves me with two questions: 1. Am I apt to have been exposed to AIDS? 2. Is it possible for a man to have an active interest in other men, but to maintain a monogamous relationship with a woman? We have discussed marriage, and that is a possibility. But I don't want it to end up in a divorce court, with me naming a man as correspondent. What are the odds?

-Name and area withheld

Dear Ms,

To answer your first question: exposure to the AIDS virus can happen in almost any sexual situation these days. If you're worried about it, then for your own peace of mind you should get tested. It can be done anonymously and cheaply. As to your second question, this is much more difficult to answer. Of course, any human being is capable of a monogamous relationship if he really wants it, and really loves his partner. You have to be the judge of this, and make your own decision. Do you think his affection for you is strong enough to overcome his interest in other guys-or other women, for that matter? It's a question you will never be able to answer "for sure," but I don't think that his interest in other men should be as much a source of concern as his ability or desire to remain faithful to you. After all, many marriages fail because of extramarital heterosexual involvements. It isn't his sexual orientation you have to worry about, as much as his overall maturity and the depth of his feelings for you.

If you would like to have Larry Townsend address a particular problem or issue, you can write him c/o Leather Notebook, Drummer, PO Box 11314, San Francisco, CA 94101-1314.

Mr. Drummer 1989.

The day is rapidly approaching when leathermen from around the world will be gathering to choose Mr. Drummer, 1989. The date: Saturday, September 23. The place: where else but San Francisco, home of Drummer and lots of the hottest men in the universe.

Coming as the highlight of the annual Leather Pride Week in SF, estimates are that as many as 2,000 folks will be in attendance as Ron Zehel, Mr. Drummer 1988, hands over his title. Rumors are that potential Regional Finalists have already begun working on their fantasy presentations for the Big Event.

Tickets for this sizzling event are again priced at $25 for advance sales and $30 at the door (if there are any left), and can even be charged to your MasterCard, Visa or American Express. (The official box office phone number will be announced soon.) Like last year, the evening's net proceeds will benefit several gay charities, serving a variety of needs throughout the U.S. and North America.

Regional Mr. Drummer Contests-

Regional Mr. Drummer contests are being organized all over the place. Many have not yet fixed dates and/or sponsor's contracts are not yet finalized. However, the tentative lineup is given below so you can plan to enter, or to attend. And remember: these are only the Regionals—local Mr. Drummer semi-finals will be popping up throughout the country, with no distinct boundaries. Again RES Productions is sponsor for the weekend and various events are being hosted by C.O.M.M.A.N.D. of Baltimore, Conquistadors MC of Orlando, and Menamore MC of Wilmington. MC will be current IML, Michael Pereyra, and IML'85 Patrick Toner. The judges will include eight of the current Mr. Drummer regional titleholders as well as Ron Zehel and renowned erotic artist, The Hun. It sounds like a HOT time in the southland this July! Mr. Southwest Drummer is a long established title but this year it is moving further to the southwest and will be awarded at a contest sponsored by and held at the Bum Steer in Phoenix on August 12. Mr. East Canada Drummer is Danny Beck, selected on Jan 28 in Montreal at a contest sponsored by MC Faucon.

Mr. Europe Drummer should be selected later this year at the Eagle bar in Amsterdam.

Mr. Australia Drummer still has no sponsor but we are again hoping to convince Australian leathermen to organize and send a "down under" representative to the "up over" competition.

-Mr. Drummer Finals-

Where Leathermen Meet.

By placing an ad in this section, a bar or other business is telling you that they welcome Leathermen.

By accepting their ad, Drummer is telling you that the bar has been recommended by a Leather/SM club or a recognized individual in the community as a good place to meet and socialize with other Leathermen. In larger cities, these will be THE leather bars; in other areas, they will be the more general purpose bars where Leathermen do go to socialize.

Help us alert Drummer readers and travelers to the RIGHT place to go to meet Leathermen in your part of the world. Send us your recommendations and talk to the right bar owners and managers about placing one of these low-priced ads. If you see a business listed here that you think shouldn't be, let us know about that, too. -Fledermaus
